

Crew of Downed Bomber Survive Week in Arctic Wilderness

ing Officers G. W. Duguid, W. G. Morton, W. V. Gorbac, A. R. Stammers, Cpl. D. H. Wentzell and FO Joe Murray. Missing from the picture is FO A. R. Gossel, who was slightly injured in flash fire which broke out when plane belly-landed on rough terrain. (SNS photo.)

Planes covered more than 65,000 square miles before the bomber, downed in a shallow lake by mechanical troubles and an electrical storm, was spotted. The partly-submerged plane can be seen in the background with the fliers camped by their tent in the foreground.

Catholics Renew Fight On School Question

The B.C. Catholic Education Association has launched a new fight on "the injustice of double taxation" on parochial schools.

The group's plea for equal treatment with public schools will be carried to the provincial government before the September 15 session of the Legislature.

Meanwhile, pamphlets outlining the double-taxation issue, a burning subject for years, are being distributed throughout the province.

"We feel it is up to the government to do something about the injustice of double taxation that has Catholic schools in financial difficulty," an association spokesman said.

If Catholic schools were allowed to enter the public school system, he explained, "we would contribute 50 per cent of the original cost and enter into a contract with the government."

"Then we could enter into a partnership, and teach the full public school curriculum allowing non-Catholic students to go home when we take up the teaching of our religious beliefs," the spokesman said.

A week-long fund-raising drive "The Archbishop's Development Fund" starts September 27 and has an objective of $130,000.

The drive will seek a "day's pay" as a donation and funds will be used for school development in 54 B.C. parochial schools.

RCAF Gives Up Hunt for N.M. Oilman
VANCOUVER (CP)—RCAF planes were withdrawn today from the 19-day search for Ellis Hall, New Mexico oil company executive, and his four passengers—three of them members of his family.

The RCAF said it understood U.S. Air Force planes based at Annette Island, Alaska, will continue the search only until Friday. Hall's twin-engine plane vanished on a scheduled 800-mile flight from Annette to Bellingham, Wash.

Favor Geneva, Honolulu For Peace Conference

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States and its Korean war allies today were reported ready to reject a possible Communist move to hold the forthcoming Korean peace conference in New York City.

Representatives of the 17 allied nations who fought in Korea agreed the conference be convened in Geneva, Switzerland, or Honolulu on Oct. 15. Arrangements were under way at the state department to transmit the proposal to the Communist through Swedish diplomatic channels.

Vancouver Woman Gives Birth to 4 Boys; All Die

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Arthur Schroeder, 24, gave birth to quadruplets late Tuesday night, but the four—all boys—died within hours.

It was the first such birth in Vancouver in 20 years. Mrs. Schroeder, wife of a food buyer, was rushed to St. Paul's Hospital in a 12-minute cab ride from their Lulu Island home 10 miles from Vancouver. The quads, premature babies, were born within a six-minute period shortly before midnight. The first two died at 1:05 a.m., the third at 5:10 a.m. and the last at 6:55 a.m.

War Hero Dead

Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, 70, retired, hero of Bataan and Corregidor, died today in a hospital at San Antonio, Texas. He entered hospital July 6 after an attack of cerebral thrombosis and had been in "poor condition" ever since.

Wind Adds New Threats To Ont. Fires

Situation Described To Be 'Nip and Tuck'

NORTH BAY, Ont. (BUP)—Gusts of 30-mile-an-hour winds posed a new threat today to 2,400 weary rangers battling more than 101 fires under blast furnace conditions in Ontario forestlands.

Forest officials said it was a "nip and tuck" fight. Scattered showers were predicted for this afternoon, but they were not expected to be much help. The lands and forests department said a total of 2,000,000 feet of hose, thousands of pumps, about 1,000 canoes, 50 aircraft and hundreds of forestry towers all would be in use today.

One helicopter was put out of the fight for a while when a ranger's axe handle smashed its rotor.

Light rains put out a few blazes Tuesday and last night but accompanying lightning and gusts of hot air that fanned flames away from the fire lines started just as many new ones. "We need some real good rains but there aren't any in sight on our weather map," said A. C. Dillon, forest protection supervisor.

At least nine fires in this district and two in the Pembroke district still raged out of control. More than 150 men were concentrated on one blaze in Gladman Township and other gangs were scattered from Quebec to Manitoba.

103 Degrees in Hell, Paradise Enjoys 78

HELL, Mich. (AP)—Inhabitants of Hell broiled today as backyard thermometers climbed to 103 degrees. Like most of Michigan, baking in a nine-day heat wave, Hell residents could cast long, looking looks at Paradise.

Paradise, located on Whitefish Bay in the upper peninsula, recorded a cool 78 Tuesday.

Washington Air Crash Kills 21

FALL FROM GANGWAY KILLS ELAINE SAILOR

VANCOUVER (CP)—A fall from the gangway of the coastal steamer Princess Elaine today took the life of quartermaster Alberto Nazzaro, about 24, a native of Naples, Italy.

Canadian Pacific Steamships officials said Nazzaro tumbled into the water between the ship and the dock as the Princess Elaine was being shifted with the tide. His body was recovered.

Nazzaro's fall was witnessed by the Elaine's bosun, Peter O'Connor and a dock tractor driver, E. Rawle. O'Connor grappled for the quartermaster with a boat hook while Rawle ran to notify police.

Company officials said the Elaine was being moved from the unloading dock to the berth ahead to allow the Princess of Nanaimo to pull in behind.

Nazzaro was a resident of Vancouver.

FOUR DIE IN TORONTO Heat Wilts CNE Building

TORONTO (BUP)—Authorities kept the Graphic Arts building roped off today at the Canadian National Exhibition after 93-degree heat melted materials on the roof and caused it to sag as much as 15 feet.

Scores of spectators in the exhibition's oldest building fled in terror Tuesday when it appeared that the entire ceiling was caving in.

Exhibition manager Hiram McCallum admitted he was "most relieved" that no one was hurt. Spectators and welfare organizations' exhibits escaped damage and the building was roped off until CNE officials could decide whether it should be demolished and rebuilt.

Meanwhile the nation's worst heat wave of the year burned through its 10th day today and the weatherman said little relief was in sight.

The unceasing 90 degrees already had blistered farm crops and forced widespread industrial layoffs.

The coroner's office in Toronto reported four sudden deaths caused partly by excessive heat. One Bell Telephone employee, Norman Williams, 31, collapsed and died in a downtown office building. Five persons collapsed in the street in Toronto.

British Columbia was the nation's icebox today with temperatures in the low 70's. The southern Prairies were experiencing 80-degree weather, while the mercury was touching the mid-80's in the Maritimes.

Six Canadian Prisoners Gain Freedom Tonight

PANMUNJOM (CP)—Six Canadians rolled through Freedom Gate, bringing to more than 3,000 the number of U.S. soldiers freed by the Communists.

A returning officer said 75 Americans who "confessed" to form warfare charges under relentless Red pressure would be repatriated soon. He said the men, mostly officers, were at Kaesong, the Communist holding point north of Panmunjom, and all expected to be repatriated.

An American corporal, said to be marked for death by other returning prisoners because he betrayed them to the Reds, was reported to have disappeared from a Tokyo army hospital.

The soldier, identified only as "Slick," was freed three weeks ago and had been sent as a medical case to the hospital.

Dulles Gives Blunt Warning To Red China

New Aggression Would See War Widespread

ST. LOUIS (BUP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warned Red China today that it will risk retaliation against its homeland if it commits a "second aggression" against Indo-China or Korea.

Noting that Red China is training, equipping and supplying Communist forces in Indo-China, he said there is a "risk that, as in Korea, Red China might send its own army into Indo-China."

"The Chinese Communist regime should realize that such a second aggression could not occur without grave consequences which might not be confined to Indo-China," he said. "I say this soberly in the interest of peace and in the hope of preventing another aggressive miscalculation."

In a speech prepared for the American Legion convention, Dulles told the Chinese Communist regime bluntly that if the Korean war were renewed, it likely would spread to China itself. He recalled that the 16 United Nations fighting aggression in Korea had declared they will resist any new outbreak of aggression there and that the fighting might spread beyond Korean boundaries.

"The Korean war... should finally have taught us that if we can foresee aggression which will cause us to fight, we should let this be known; so that the potential aggressor will take this into his calculations," he said. "This administration intends to act realistically to win the battle for peace."

15 Bodies Found in Wreckage

VAIL, Wash. (UP)—The burned wreckage of a DC-3 which vanished on Tuesday night with 19 soldiers and two crewmen aboard was found today near this logging community.

Fifteen bodies were counted immediately, the air force said. There was no sign of life at the scene according to State Forester Jim Church, who found the wreckage.

The air force at first said that 21 servicemen were believed on the commercial Regina Airlines plane, but the Civil Aeronautics Administration said later information indicated only 19 passengers were aboard.

The big silver plane striped in red, flew over Portland, Ore., at 6:28 p.m. Tuesday night on a flight from Monterey, Calif., to McChord air force base near Tacoma, Wash.

After leaving Portland, the plane failed to report at its next check station at Toledo, Wash., about 60 miles north of Portland.

The CAA said the plane's flight plan indicated it would run out of fuel at 8:48 p.m.

Search for Plane Missing in Quebec Hampered by Radio

ROBerval, Que. (CP)—Officials feared late Tuesday night that the continued search today for a missing plane in northern Quebec might still be hampered by poor radio communications, blamed on "ionospheric disturbances."

At least five men, including three passengers, were aboard the pontoon-equipped Norseman which disappeared Aug. 25 during a flight from Fort Chimo, on the southern tip of Ungava Bay, to Inukjuag, 440 miles north of Quebec.

41 DIE IN ALPS

Top French Violinist Among Plane Victims

NICE, France (AP)—An Orient-bound French airliner crashed in flames late Tuesday night on the side of a 10,000-foot Alpine peak, killing France's most famous violinist, Jacques Thibaud, and 41 other persons.

The giant four-engine Air France plane was on a regularly-scheduled flight to Saigon and Hong Kong when it smashed near the towering summit of Mont Cemet, in south-east France, 100 miles north of this Riviera resort.

Rescue workers who reached the scene after toiling more than five hours up the steep mountain slopes reported there were no survivors among the 33 passengers and nine crew members. Wreckage was scattered over 1,500 feet.

Air France officials could give no cause for the crash, which occurred an hour and a half after the big plane left Paris. They said messages from the pilot had reported all was well and weather good.

Rescue crews reported the temperature on the mountain-side was below freezing, but the weather otherwise was perfect.

Pils Back for Crucial Boxla Battle

With lacrosse fever reaching epidemic proportions in the city, a sell-out crowd is expected at Memorial Arena tonight as Victoria Shamrocks meet the rival Vancouver Pilseners in the third game of their best-of-seven series for the western laurels, tied at one victory each, and the right to advance to the Canadian finals. Pilseners, seen here piling out of their bus for the game, have yet to win a game in Victoria this season, but will be out to upset Rocks' 21-game winning streak at home. (Times photo.)

Toronto Police Probe Death, Quick Burial

Parents of Joe Dudziec Informed of Son's Passing Three Days After Youth Buried

TORONTO (BUP)—Police Chief John Chisholm promised a personal investigation today into the case of a former U.S. professional baseball player who was buried before his parents learned he had died in a mental hospital.

Joe Dudziec, 20, went berserk while watching a baseball game and tore off all his clothes in the centre of Maple Leaf Stadium.

Arrested on a vagrancy charge, he appeared in court, was remanded, and was committed to the Ontario hospital at Whitby five days later.

He died a week ago today. Three days later he was buried.

His parents, who had been looking for him since he appeared in court, found out he was dead last Saturday.

"Everybody on my street thinks this is terrible," his father, Sebastian Dudziec, a packinghouse worker, said through an interpreter.

"There will have to be an investigation," Chisholm agreed. Ontario

Health Minister MacKinnon Phillips said the hospital was not to blame, and there was no need for a probe from that angle.

Chisholm said a policeman had talked to the Dudziecs the night their son was arrested.

"There was no further action by the police because our responsibility ended when the boy was remanded for mental examination," Chisholm said.

WASTED AWAY

Dr. H. P. Fletcher, superintendent of the Whitby Hospital, said "every effort" had been made to find the man's next-of-kin both before and after his death, but his full name and address apparently had not been sent on by the jail.

"There were no relatives on hand and we had no idea where they lived, although we understood police were trying to find them," he said.

"We couldn't have delayed the burial but if we had known where to reach the relatives we certainly would have done so."

Doctors at the Don Jail said Dudziec was physically fit when he left for the mental hospital, although he was only semi-conscious when he got there.

Dr. Fletcher said violent mental patients usually were given sedatives to quiet them during the trip. He said Dudziec had never spoken a coherent word while he was wasted away in the hospital.

The youth, for two years a professional ball player in the United States, would take no foods or liquids. His resistance was lowered and he developed pneumonia. An autopsy showed that was the cause of death.

Chevrier Sees Power Project Starting Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier says there is a possibility work may be started on the power phase of the St. Lawrence Seaway before appeals against the licensing of New York State as the United States power authority have gone through the courts.

On Aug. 15, four appeals were taken against the decision of the U.S. federal power commission's decision to name New York State as the U.S. power authority.

Mr. Chevrier, in an interview Tuesday said the federal government, the Ontario hydro commission and the New York State authority have been discussing the situation and have been considering the possibility of going ahead with the actual work.

Canada's Beaver Aircraft on Show At British Display

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Canadian-designed Beaver aircraft which has won the approval of both domestic and foreign buyers will be on display next week in the annual air show at Farnborough, England, the United Kingdom information office announced today.

The plane, forerunner of the larger Otter now in service with the RCAF, has proved highly versatile and can be used with wheels, skis or floats.

Island Hydro Testing New Power Units

B.C.P.C. Development In Final Stages

Installation of the fifth and sixth generating units at the B.C. Power Commission's John Hart Development at Campbell River, now nearing completion, will increase the output of the plant from 80,000 to 120,000 kilowatts.

Tests of the fifth unit were run Monday, and the sixth and last will be ready for testing within two months.

The present project involved construction of a third pipeline, penstock, and surge tank, and extension of the power house.

Cost is about $4,250,000. The six-unit installation is the ultimate planned for the Elk Falls site. Any further generating capacity on Campbell River will have to be located elsewhere.

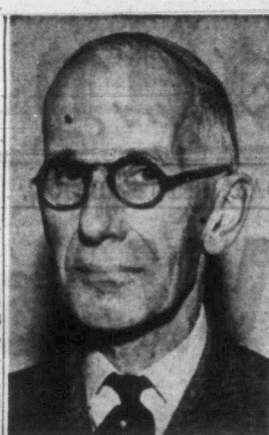

The plant provides power for Campbell River, Alberni Valley, Comox, Lake Cowichan, Nanaimo, and Duncan. It also serves the Elk Falls Company paper mill at Duncan Bay, and MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. pulp plants at Nanaimo and Port Alberni.

Plans to Aid War Criminals

BONN, Germany (AP)—Britain, France and the United States Tuesday announced new clemency plans which will speed the release of many German war criminals still held in Allied jails.

The three western powers said they will set up special boards to make recommendations for clemency or parole.

The plan is designed to relieve bitter Allied-German friction over war criminals.

ALONG WITH 27 other distinguished persons from Canada, the United Kingdom and the U.S., Governor-General Vincent Massey received honorary degrees from St. Francis Xavier University at centennial convocation ceremonies today. Mr. Massey received an honorary doctor of laws degree. Dr. Norman A. MacKenzie, of Vancouver, president of the University of British Columbia, was similarly honored.

Dominion Bridge Workers Favor Strike Action

MONTREAL (BUP)—Sixteen hundred employees of the Dominion Bridge Co. at Lachine have voted in favor of strike action to enforce their wage demands.

An arbitration board turned in three reports representing the views of the company and union representatives and the impartial chairman. The company has offered to sign a contract with the United Steelworkers' Union providing a five cents hourly increase that had chairman E. W. Woods of McGill University.

The steelworkers told their union leaders to negotiate with company officials on the basis of the report submitted by the union member on the arbitration board. The workers authorized strike action if no agreement could be reached.

An architect, Mr. Warren practised here many years ago. He designed the Central Building and the Pantheon (now the Totem) Theatre, among other local structures. He also helped organize Victoria Rotary Club. He and his family moved to Santa Barbara in 1952 when he retired after many years as an architect in Seattle.

BIG THREE CALL AGAIN FOR TALKS

Would Discuss Germany, Austria

LONDON (AP)—The Big Three Allies called on Russia today to join an early four-power conference of foreign ministers on the future of Germany and Austria.

Identical notes were sent by the United States, Britain and France suggesting the high level talks to work out: 1. Arrangements for holding free German-wide elections as an essential first step toward restoring German unity and agreeing on a final German peace settlement;

2. Final agreement on the long promised Austrian treaty of independence which Russia has been stalling.

Informants said the Allied powers rejected Russia's proposal to set up a provisional all-German government which would participate in a German peace conference to be held within six months. The Soviets suggested also that free German-wide elections should follow the peace conference.

The notes made it clear that the Allies believe the Soviet proposals for holding elections after a peace settlement puts the cart before the horse.

The informants said the Allies proposed the ministers meet about mid-October in Switzerland. The lakeside town of Lugano near the Italian-Swiss frontier is understood to have been suggested as a meeting place.

DUNCAN—Three registered beef breeds of cattle will be displayed at the Cowichan Exhibition here September 10, 11 and 12, to mark the first instance of a Vancouver Island fair showing this number of beef cattle.

Faint Hope U.K.-Egypt Talks Succeed

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—A high Egyptian official crushed hopes today for an early settlement of the dispute between Egypt and Great Britain on the Suez Canal Zone issue.

Major Salah Salem, Egypt's minister of national guidance, said at a liberation rally Tuesday that "there is no hope that the British will accept our demands and there is no hope that our country will obtain its rights except through sacrifice."

Salem's statement was made shortly after Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, head of the British military team, had ended his sixth informal talk with Lt.-Col. Abdel Nasser "completely satisfied."

Well-informed sources said the Salem statement indicated the Anglo-Egyptian talks had foundered.

These sources said Salem apparently was trying to end the optimism growing from speculation that considerable progress had been made by Robertson and Nasser, President Mohammed Naguib's "strong arm."

P.E.I. Conservatives To Press Court Action

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Progressive Conservatives in Kings County say they have been informed of infractions of the Election Act in the Aug. 10 federal election and plan court action.

The party said the executive had issued instructions to its attorney "to take the necessary steps to bring these alleged offences before the court."

Liberal Thomas Kikham retained the seat against John A. MacDonald, Progressive Conservative.

COLUMBUS, Ind. (UP)—Elmer Dean, 67, and Mrs. Anna Dean, 32, applied for a marriage license for the third time Tuesday. They were married and divorced from each other twice previously.

Logging Camp Mishaps Prompt Safety Parley

COURTENAY—The present wave of accidents in logging operations employing fewer than 25 men has prompted the safety council of Local 1-363, IWA (CCL), to call a conference of small operators to discuss a joint safety program.

"Our purpose is to draw up a safety education program to help eliminate accidents," said Jacob Epp, local IWA safety director.

"After inspecting various logging operations within the local's jurisdiction, the safety council feels that equipment now being used by many small operators is not as good as it should be," he said.

"We have also found inexperienced employees who have not had the education necessary to make them safety conscious."

Northern Timber Co. Ltd. shingle mill at Fanny Bay has now reached 354 consecutive accident-free days of operation.

"We are watching the progress made there on a co-operative basis between employers and employees," said Jacob Holst, safety council member.

Ontario Judge Sends Truck Drivers to Jail

KITCHENER, Ont. (BUP)—Five truck drivers began serving one-week jail sentences here and in Hamilton today for illegal actions during the violent western Ontario truckers' strike.

"Admittedly it is the worst position I have ever faced on the bench," Magistrate E. Kirkpatrick said as he sentenced the men Tuesday on besetting charges.

"I imposed this heavy sentence because other strikes are brewing," the magistrate said. "I intend the jail term to have a deterring effect on future strikers who might consider violence."

TORONTO (BUP)—Chief Justice J. C. McRuer was scheduled to hear 17 motions today to commit 34 striking Broulan Reef gold miners for contempt of court for illegal picketing.

McRuer previously adjourned one petition from the Timmins, Ont., mine to jail strikers violating an injunction which limited picket lines to four men.

He warned he would reopen the case unless the injunction was obeyed "in letter and in spirit." Since then as many as 400 men at a time have blocked the Broulan Reef entrances.

The strikebound mine laid the foundation for a contempt action Tuesday by having Sheriff J. E. Donahue of Cochrane read an injunction to some 100 men massed at the gates.

Immediately after, the line turned their backs to a test car driven by non-strikers and stopped it.

Editorials in the party and government newspapers Pravda and Izvestia hailed the new measure as part of a drive to strengthen labor discipline, insure efficiency, eliminate red tape and bureaucracy, and safeguard the workers' rights by giving them plenty of leisure time for cultural pursuits.

Hashish Seized

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal narcotics agents and city detectives seized 10 pounds of hashish in the New York port authority bus terminal Tuesday. They described the seizure as the largest in their memory.

Authorities said they believe the drug was a shipment of an international narcotics ring. Seized on charges of possessing the narcotic was Arthur Mitzino, a 42-year-old Greek citizen, on a four-month visitor's visa in the United States.

Sixteen bars of hashish, each weighing 10 ounces, were found at the bottom of a shopping bag filled with celery stalks, after Mitzino took it from a locker, authorities said.

Hashish, derived from Indian hemp, produces an effect of intoxication when smoked.

Calgarian Takes Back Gambling Money at Gunpoint

CALGARY (CP)—Arthur E. Massey who said he lost "considerable" money gambling at a Calgary address, pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday to returning to the premises and taking $100 from Jack Stevens at gunpoint.

Massey who was remanded to Friday for sentence, said he lost the money Monday and returned early Tuesday after having some drinks.

Massey told the court he became desperate at the thought of having no money to take home. He told the court his young son has polio.

BCE Employees Here May Seek Big Pay Boost

Victoria members of the B.C. Electric Office Employees' Association are expected to follow the lead of their Vancouver colleagues in seeking a 20 per cent wage increase.

Negotiations began in Vancouver Tuesday for 1,700 mainland employees. Local negotiations will affect 165.

In addition, the negotiations generally set the pattern for increases to 400 supervisors not under union jurisdiction.

The union said the boost is designed to bring office workers more closely into line with other trades employed by the company. It is also asking the B.C. Electric pay full cost of BCHIS and MSA and share group life insurance premiums and dividends on a 50-50 basis.

Meantime, a statement was issued today by H. B. Gonder, president, and Allan W. Gilmore of the BCEER Office Employees' Union.

It explained a recent alleged rift in the membership over union affiliation. The executives said they wished to explain to the public that theirs is an independent Canadian union.

"The BCEER employees have their own union, independent and Canadian, known as the BCE Office Employees' Association. It is divided into mainland and Vancouver Island sections.

"Early in 1953, the mainland executive were defeated by the membership in an attempt to join with the AFL affiliate, the Office Employees' International Union.

"The executive of the Island branch recommended the same change and won authority by an oral vote. An OEU charter was obtained and signed application cards were collected from OEA members.

"When the OEU constitution was made available to members there were protests, following which a secret, LPP-supervised vote was held and the OEU was rejected by a vote of 98-30.

"The executive resigned when the vote results were known and a new election was held. The OEU failed to achieve bargaining rights for the BCE office employees and their union's independence has been endorsed."

Many Germans have been openly resentful of the Allied position in regard to convicted war criminals and craft guilds.

In the German view, the traditional guilds insure a high standard of work by thorough screening of applicants for licenses.

Most Germans believe the war criminals were simply carrying out orders as an good soldier must in time of war.

The joint boards will review the sentences of some 450 convicted criminals still in allied custody and make recommendations for clemency or parole.

The withdrawal of the U.S. objections to the establishment of craft unions was announced by State Secretary Walter Hallstein.

Hallstein denied the timing of the two decisions had any connection with the forthcoming parliamentary elections but did say that the allied-high commissions "worked overtime on the past two weekends in order to complete these matters."

NURSING HOME PLEBISCITE DATE IN DOUBT

Plans for a plebiscite to allow ratepayers to vote on a $150,000 by-law to provide funds for construction of an addition to Victoria Nursing Home, may be made at City Council meeting Thursday.

Mayor Claude Harrison said today.

He expects that a date will be set for the special poll. The vote could be taken, however, at the regular December election, if council wishes.

The provincial government by order-in-council recently approved transfer of monies from land sale funds for the nursing home addition but added the condition that the by-law must be okayed by the electors.

City Workers Fight Hiring Of Outsiders

The city's use of commissionaires as an economy move for night and holiday duty in Beacon Hill Park has resulted in the Civic Employees' Protective Association invoking grievance procedure and applying for arbitration proceedings, the parks committee learned Tuesday.

Some time ago the city decided to hire commissionaires at straight time rather than pay parks employees overtime for work on Sundays and week-day evenings, chiefly for supervision of crowds during park band concerts.

Some aldermen stated the union would likely protest, but council decided to proceed with employment of commissionaires.

Two DVA Officers To Study Island Veteran Problems

Two Department of Veterans Affairs officers from Victoria will make an up-island tour next week, conferring with individual veterans and veterans' organizations on matters of concern to them.

S. H. Okell, who is soon to retire as assistant administrator, and J. S. Adam, who is to take over that post, will begin their tour Tuesday and will call at Duncan, Ladysmith, Chemainus, Nanaimo, Parksville, Qualicum Beach, Campbell River, Comox and Port Alberni before returning on Saturday, Sept. 12.

Owners File Ship Claims

VANCOUVER (CP)—Claims totaling $253,320 were filed in Admiralty Court here Tuesday in connection with a collision August 30, 1951, between the steamships Princess Kathleen and Prince Rupert.

The CPR is claiming $181,682 for damage to the Princess Kathleen, and Prince Rupert Ltd. is asking $91,638 for damages to the Prince Rupert.

Parking Lot Sanctioned

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A local department store received the go ahead from city council Tuesday to construct a $600,000, four-tier parking lot.

The Timothy Eaton Company planned to build the extravagant parking lot on property bounded by Richards, the lane north of Hastings, Cordova and Homer, a company spokesman said.

A unique feature of the parking lot is to be an overhead customer walk direct from the parking lot to the second story of the store.

Juin Requests Atomic Data

PARIS (CP)—Marshal Alphonse Juin, commander of Allied forces in Central Europe, asked Tuesday to be given access to classified atomic data so that he could properly organize the defense of Western Europe.

France's senior soldier said he could formulate effective plans only by knowing the number of atomic bombs available for use if a world war should break out.

Proper defense planning also required that he be acquainted with the effects of these "special weapons," he told a meeting of the SHAPE Correspondents' Association.

Juin said his fellow officers at SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe) always supplied "bits of atomic information" when he asked for them. But, he added, he felt there was "slight uneasiness" among his U.S. colleagues.

After Mossadegh

IF MOHAMMED MOSSADEGH, with his tears and pyjamas, appears a rather comic figure inside an Iranian jail, he is the author of a national tragedy which might have become a tragedy for the whole western world. For in his desperation Mossadegh, having made himself a virtual dictator, was clearly in the process of selling his country out to Russia.

If he had succeeded, the west would have lost something much more important than Iranian oil. By the familiar technique of the inside job, Russia would have broken into the vital strategic area of the Near East, with incalculable consequences. It does not follow, however, that Iran is now safe for the west or for its own people. The young Shah, restored to power by a military coup, faces formidable problems and he must begin, at least, to solve them or his government cannot hope to survive in a divided and chaotic country. All the elements which supported Mossadegh—the ironic combination of the communist Tudeh party and the big landlords, with quiet Russian backing—no doubt are working already to destroy the new regime.

The basic problem of Iran is a grinding poverty, exploited by the big landlords and greatly worsened by Mossadegh's paralysis of the oil industry. The Shah has shown that he understands that fact by personally giving away much of his own lands to the local peasantry. Whether he can survive or not will depend largely on the ability of his government to pursue a policy of land redistribution and thus to offer the peasants some hope of a tolerable life.

At the same time he must try to solve the immediate problem of the oil industry. It is here that the west can assist or damage and perhaps ruin him.

Britain has lost a lot of money in this industry but those are minor losses compared with the possible loss of Iran to Russian communism. In view of these strategic facts "it might pay us well," says The Manchester Guardian, "to forget our claims and not to stickle over details of prestige—and leave the question of compensation to such arbitration as will satisfy the Persians, if we are not prepared to forget about it altogether."

However, these matters may be settled, the new Iranian government cannot afford for a moment to appear subservient to foreigners. If it is regarded by its own people as nothing better than a tool of the west it will not last long. It will be extinguished by the flames of that same rabid nationalism which Mossadegh knew so well how to ignite.

The west, therefore, must be willing to co-operate with the Shah but it should not and dare not try to dominate him. Even without the embarrassment of outside pressure from the west, his position will remain precarious under the pressures of Russia and its agents, and the still more explosive pressure of a people unfit as yet for democracy and hungry for food.

To Cut Transit Losses

WHEN THE B.C. ELECTRIC and its bus drivers reached accord without a strike on the current working agreement in May, it was clearly indicated that mileage reduction would be sought on non-paying bus lines.

The plain facts were that the company, operating in the red on its transportation activities, was required to meet a higher wage bill. It could overcome its difficulties by effecting economies or increasing revenues, or both.

Because of Victoria's concentration of population not too distant from the business district, fare increases posed obvious dangers. A higher tariff would have persuaded more people to walk.

The company did receive some relief in the taxation terms of the last federal budget. Other financial readjustments do not appear feasible at this time.

Under these circumstances, the B.C. Electric proposes to follow the alternative—economy through curtailment of certain routes. Some individuals will be hurt by the planned reductions. The scheme, nevertheless, seems preferable to higher fares, which reduce the number of people using the buses and force the company to depend for higher revenue from a smaller number of patrons.

As it is, the transportation service of the B.C. Electric is subsidized by users of electricity and other utilities provided by the company. That subsidy may be kept to a minimum if savings can be effected in transportation. Money can be saved by curtailing evening runs, as suggested in the proposed schedule prepared by the company.

On these grounds the plan justifies the support of the municipalities, which must approve the change before it is taken to the public utilities commission for final action.

Within the Conservative Family

IT HAS BEEN SAID HERE SEVERAL times already that the Conservative Party is to be re-built as a truly national party, an adequate opposition and an alternative government, it must change its ways and get back to first principles.

No doubt such opinions have been interpreted by many local Conservatives as mere Liberal prejudice. But no one will say that The Montreal Gazette has any Liberal prejudice, for it is the oldest and staunchest Conservative organ in the nation. And after a candid inquest into the recent Conservative disaster The Gazette reaches exactly the same conclusion already ventured in these columns.

The Conservative party, says The Gazette, failed to advocate its historic principles, which always have an honorable and useful place in the democratic process. "If," it adds, "the Progressive Conservative party in Canada had clung to such a policy down through the years, it would have been in a position to make a very strong public appeal. The trouble is that it allowed the opportunity to slip through its fingers. It was the Liberal party that went into the campaign making no promises. Even the political temptation to offer a health insurance scheme did not distract from the determination to mark time."

"It was the Progressive Conservatives, together with the CCF, that became the big promoters. But this was not the political season for the big promise. The Liberal government remained in office because, unlike many other governments in the western world, it realized that the time had come to let matters rest for a while."

The Gazette argues wisely that "it ought to be the natural and historic role for a conservative party in any democracy to control the rate of experiment, to be the party of moderation, to give the nation time to catch its breath, to limit recklessness."

The Conservative party, in the recent election, and indeed since its ill-advised convention of 1948, has been the party of recklessness, outbidding its competitors with impossible promises. Because they understood that the people not only rejected the Conservative party but—perhaps with excessive punishment—left it little more than an Ontario rump.

If the Conservative party is to learn from these mistakes it must, as The Gazette admits, risk temporary unpopularity: "If a Conservative opposition is ever to become popular it must be prepared to be unpopular. If it tries to be popular at the wrong times it will also find that it is unpopular even when the right time comes."

Will the Conservative party be wise enough to accept such sound advice from its best friends?

Make the License Plates Work

ATTORNEY-GENERAL BONNER's recent announcement of a return to annual car license plates carries with it an unhappy admission of failure to meet the problem of identifying current year tabs in the case of theft. It is hard to accept this lack of ingenuity in overcoming what scarcely seems a major difficulty.

Provided the annual issue is resumed, the benefits of more permanent identification of cars by the one number is lost, the inconvenience of fastening on new plates is revived and the presumed saving in material by having a long-term plate vanishes.

But if plates are to be renewed every year, the authorities might consider expanding the individuality the imprint of a totem pole recently added to licenses. Many states and some provinces use the plates as mobile publicity media.

If, without offense, some regions in North America can advertise themselves as the Wheat Province, the Evergreen Playground and such, might it not be worthwhile to list British Columbia as "The Land of Parks" or, in some other wording, draw attention to the attraction of this part of Canada to the tourist?

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

MY blasted budgerigar, Chips, is getting worse. Worse about talking too much, I mean. He knows this himself, and in one of the duologues (of which he handles both sides, in different voices) he recently said this:

"You talk too much," to which his other voice replied "Sure I do. I'm stupid." (To which the first voice responded, not very wittily or relevantly, "Well, you'd better wear a coat, you've got four children.")

For a long time he has been fascinated by the idea of shooting. Talks about it a hundred times a day. But lately I've been gun to think he really knows a little of what it means. Which is absurd... budgies know less than nothing about anything. For example, how do you account for this? First Voice: "I'm glad you get shot. I'm very cross, you know. Absolutely. Shoot in a dozen places." Second Voice: "Oh, that's not shoot, that's just indigestion."

LOOK YOU, MAN

BERNARD DE VOTO has written a book about early discoveries in America, and myths about it. He laughs at the Welsh legends about Welshmen prowling round this continent well in advance of other Europeans. I don't care much one way or the other. But I wish he would explain how the first white men found the Kootenai Indians counting in Welsh.

HOT DOGS!

LABOR DAY will be upon us in a few days, and with it the last chance for the outdoor ritual of eating hot-dogs on any big scale. Eaten indoors, even at a hockey game, they are hardly the same thing. You will remember that in 1939, even the King and Queen were taken outdoors to eat their hot-dogs, above the Hudson at Hyde Park, N.Y.

Do you remember when hot-dogs were almost universally known as Coney Island Red Hots? If you do, that shows how old you are, as well as how old I am to bring the matter up. I can also remember the refreshment boys at the ball park bellowing "It's pure and sweet. It can't be beat, goes down to your boots and tickles your feet, hot dogs a dime, folks." Anything less appetizing on a hot afternoon in the bleachers than the suggestion of a sweet hot-dog... no, thank you. Though I have seen Americans pour maple syrup on pork sausages.

INCIDENTALLY, here is a funny thing. If a meat packer (in Canada) offers you wienersurst or frankfurterwurst in a tin, he must tell you on the label how he has diluted the meat with soy flour and other edible sawdust. At least, I imagine he is compelled to do so, for I can't think of any mere whim that would make him do it. But if he sells you the same sausages in cardboard cartons or in bulk, he remains discreetly silent, and is anything but frank about the frankfurters (if I may so express myself). How come? Same food, same country, different package, different law. Devilish odd. But never mind. I'll eat them all... on Labor Day, anyhow. Simmer them, grill them spitted on sticks, broil them, bake them, braise them... anything you like, so long as you don't hard-boil 'em.

FORE!

THE children, having taken up putting on the lawn, went out to buy some golf balls and came home with some genuine brand-new gutty balls, sold for a few cents each. Or imitation gutta percha. I hadn't known these things were still made. It made me feel like Jim Braid's grandfather. The last time I saw gutty balls was in 1921. I was 11, and was caddy for a very rich uncle. Being rich, he had great ideas about small economies if not big ones, and he played golf with balls he bought at Woolworth's. It spoilt his score but increased his pleasure. The other caddies and I were fascinated by the way the balls went all out of shape when struck. Wonderful. They looked like pictures of the molten moon breaking away from the molten earth. Or possibly a bit of Henry Moore sculpture without the holes.

MY uncle didn't want to insult a close relative by offering me a tip... a piece of delicacy I failed to appreciate. But he allowed me to bring home one of the fifteen-cent balls, to thrill my brothers and pals. And thrill them it did, too. To show them how soft and pliable the ball was, I put it in the crack of the dining-room door and closed the door on it good and hard. As you know, a door has tremendous leverage, like a giant nut-cracker. The hinges were stout, so the ball was squeezed almost flat before the screws finally tore out of the door-post, splintering the wood. It was hard to explain to my parents I was merely studying the more technical side of golf. But at least I proved to my pals it was a queer ball.

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY

IN any history of humor, you will read that the one-line caption under a funny drawing was invented by the Americans in the late '20's, probably by The New Yorker. Before that, the caption had to be dialogue, usually dialogue. After that, it had to be a single line of monologue. Well, I was flicking through a volume of drawings by Chas. Graves of Punch... the man who specialized in comic sailors. And I see that as early as the First War he was using the single-line caption. And since Graves was anything but a progressive founder of fashions, I'll bet other British artists were doing it too. Maybe the Russians invented it, hm?

As Our Readers See It

CITY MANAGER

I see by the Times that the council is considering re-engaging the city manager for another term, at an increased salary.

If we had a mayor and council capable of running the city's business, there would be no need for a city manager.

At election time they are all so anxious to be elected, that they promise all kinds of economies, but once elected, they want to sit back and draw their salaries, and hire a city manager to do the work.

I would suggest they pull up their socks and do the job themselves.

A RATEPAYER.

JOY FOREVER

We often hear the expression "a thing of beauty is a joy forever." This is only partly true as the average person sees very little in beauty other than that which is pleasing to the eye which soon loses its appeal.

It is only those who are able to see beauty through the eyes of the soul who really enjoy it. To them beauty lives eternal because they are able to see good in all its various forms especially in a beautiful character or personality which is God's greatest masterpiece.

However, all forms of beauty show God's handiwork and are a joy forever to those who are spiritually alive.

BUS CURTAILMENT

If, as proposed, the B.C. Electric is to bring about another reduced bus service at the present fare throughout Victoria, then in all fairness something will have to be thought up to service the mothers, children, and men on nightshifts and all those who do not yet own automobiles.

The B.C. Electric which stands for light, heat, and transportation, asked for, obtained, and wish to retain the franchise (or concession) granted by Victoria—of which all we citizens are one! Those lines most patronized can easily balance those in lesser populated areas and the entire system can be subsidized by the light and heat departments without substantial loss to the shareholders.

We personally are not victimized by the proposed change, but many around us will suffer in this Richardson area where an already 30-minute bus service is reported to be threatened with termination at 6 p.m.

HEART-WARMING

What L. J. Pepper says under "Work of Science," August 29, and the fact that the Times printed same, are heart warming.

Knowing as I—and probably quite some others—do, how so many of similar expressions of opinion never see the light, evidently because some "important" persons' toes are stepped on too hard, while the purveyors of hypocrisy always seem to get their full share of publicity, that hypocrisy of course garbed as some so-called God-given axiom, conveniently taken from their grabbag, their man-made bible, it gives satisfaction if, once in awhile, truth comes to the fore.

As Ed Morrow, CBS news commentator, quoted George Bernard Shaw some time ago, "Morality? We draw the line, and make the other fellow toe same." After all is said and done, only truth will set us free.

STUDY IN 'HATE-LOVE'

Hitler and Britain

By F. A. VOIGT in the Manchester Guardian

HERR Fritz Hesse was head to two German news agencies before the war. He had many English friends and played some part in the numerous and varied efforts to make Hitler understand "the British attitude." After the outbreak of war he was appointed adviser (Referee) on British affairs at Hitler's headquarters. All reports, memoranda, and so on relating to Anglo-German relations came to his notice, and he frequently gave "advice" which, seen in retrospect, appears to have been entirely sound. He remained in close touch with Ribbentrop and met Hitler and other National Socialist leaders. In his book, "Das Spiel um Deutschland," he has much of interest to say about their views and characters. Later on he shared the conviction that Hitler must be removed if Germany and Europe were to be saved.

The main contention developed in his book is highly controversial, but it is closely reasoned and supported by much evidence—that Hitler felt "hate-love," as Hesse calls it, for England and that he fought her with a divided heart.

DIVIDING THE WORLD

Hitler admired Great Britain and her empire. His overriding ambition was not to conquer the world for Germany alone but to divide it between the British Empire and a future German Empire (America seemed to be beyond his mental horizon). He never seems to have understood why this vision could not appeal to Great Britain. When he met British statesmen (especially Neville Chamberlain) and experienced the British way of conducting affairs he was deeply disillusioned, and decided that British policy was composed of evasion, trickery, and bluff. He did not believe that Great Britain would honor her pledge to Poland. When she did so he was thrown into a state of panic. He canceled the order to invade Poland. But when Alfred Berndt, his liaison with the German news agency, handed him a report (untrue) that the Poles had massacred 300,000 Germans Hitler flew into a passion and, going to the telephone, renewed the order, and so the Second World War began.

Hitler according to Hesse, was determined to localize the war, in the hope that when Poland had been overthrown he could come to terms with Great Britain. He had similar hopes when he struck at France. He made no serious attack on Great Britain until September, 1940, when the German Air Force bombed the London docks. Hesse endorses the supposition that Hitler deliberately held back the German armor so that the British force could get away unmolested from Dunkirk.

On the invasion of England, Hesse tells us that "Hitler never actively promoted (niemals betriebe) the invasion of England, but regarded it with extreme scepticism from the technical point of view and thought it politically undesirable... after three months he had it postponed for an indefinite period—that is, he called it off."

Hitler took little interest in the North African campaign until it was too late (from the German point of view). He was furious when Mussolini attacked Greece and never wanted Italy to take part in the war. He and Mussolini formed a very poor opinion of one another at their first meeting. Hitler, according to Hesse, called Mussolini, "a ridiculous actor," while Mussolini referred to Hitler as "a dangerous and talkative corporal." Later on, however, Hitler acquired a certain affection for Mussolini.

UKRAINE COLONY

Hitler always intended to attack Russia, overthrow the Communist despotism, and colonize the Ukraine. But his Russian campaign was subordinated to the desire to make peace with England, or force peace upon her, so that the world could at last be partitioned between the two great "Germanic races." Even after the Battle of Stalingrad, Stalin, according to Hesse, made discreet overtures to Hitler through the intermediary of the Japanese. But Hitler would not listen to them. He was even ready to give up the demand for the return of the former German colonies—if he had the Ukraine he had no need for African territory.

He admired Churchill and prophesied, several years before the war, that he would lead Great Britain if war came. But he also saw in him the spirit of British obduracy, and every time Churchill spoke, Hitler had spasms. Hesse describes these famous spasms vividly—Hitler would throw himself on the floor, foam at the mouth, and complain of a heart attack, accusing those who had incited him to fury of the desire to kill him (it does not appear that he ever chewed the carpet!).

Hitler's final crisis was one of belief—in describing it Hesse largely bears out Professor Bullock's interpretation. In his fanatical hatred of an "inferior race," the Slavs, Hitler failed to exploit the opportunities offered by the vast defections from the Russian army and the welcome accorded to the Germans "as liberators" by the peasantry in Southern Russia. His belief distorted his sense of realities and made him expect a miracle. When he realized that defeat was irrevocable he lost his faith in the superiority of the Germans. They are, he said, "unworthy of me." All he had lived, labored and fought for had failed at last. It was then that he abandoned himself to his final frenzy of destruction. He wanted to destroy even Great Britain, and he no longer cared if Germany was destroyed, for she was not worth saving. When he could destroy no more, he destroyed himself.

Plea for Greece

The lot of Greece is singularly a tragic one. It is a mixture of glory and pain, a peculiar composite of sacrifices and great achievements. It is a lot which continuously fills the Greek history with pages written in blood. This same lot, however, bestows upon the Greek people at the same time inexhaustible patience and almost superhuman power to withstand these successive blows, and survive triumphant.

This last catastrophe which the earthquakes brought upon the beautiful islands of the Ionian Sea comes to add its terrible burden upon Greece, who was trying to recover her balance from the terrible blows which she suffered for 10 years by the Fascists, the Nazis and the Communists.

Now, however, that the fury of the earthquakes has spent itself, leaving death and ruins in its wake, the rehabilitation of the islands must begin. The ruined towns and villages must be rebuilt and life come back to the dead islands.

This task, however, is too heavy for Greece alone to accomplish without the wholehearted support of her friends everywhere. The task of rehabilitating all those thousands of homeless, if left to Greece alone, would prove ruinous to her general economy.

Greece asks for no charity. What she is asking for is to incite in her friends everywhere the warm feeling of mutual solidarity, which, after all, taking into consideration the sacrifices borne by Greece for democracy, is due to her.

POETRY TODAY

While our civilization is predominantly scientific, now as in former times poetry can break through the tyranny of the positivist intellect and claim to be the breath and finer spirit of all knowledge. Now as always a central criterion of the major poet is his recognition of the unceasing conflict between good and evil.

—Douglas Bush in "English Poetry."

The Fish Laugh Quietly

WHY it should be, I don't know, but some of us seem to go through life doing the right thing just a little too late. It leaves us a trifle wistful.

We spend our time striving to reach the crest of the wave. When we're almost on it, the wave slides forward and we're dropped into the trough. We try to strike while the iron's hot. While we're bringing the hammer down, the iron shifts and we hit our thumbs.

We move into a group of men telling stories and finally get an opening to tell one of our own. But it seems that the one told before ours was the type that winds up a story-telling bee and we're left humbling a shade incoherently to the one or two who remain for the sake of politeness and who really don't want to hear the yarn at all.

Our sense of timing is off. To make up for this deficiency we over-compensate. We think, for instance, if a little hot mustard is good on a hamburger, twice as much mustard will be twice as good. 10 times as much just that much better. Naturally, we burn our mouths and the mouths of anyone we serve.

And when it comes to fishing, why we're little short of the ridiculous.

I THINK I REMEMBER

Years ago—and I'm losing self-confidence so fast I'm beginning to think my recollection is only a trick of faulty memory—I used to catch fish.

I used to catch them on an old Gibbs-Stewart No. 5, brass and silver spoon. Other people caught more fish than I, but for a time I was satisfied.

After the novelty wore off a kid catching salmon, and when the folks at home sort of took it for granted, I began to yearn for the big catches others brought in—the kind that had the gang talking around the beach. I wanted to be on the crest of the wave.

So I switched tackle. In place of a very reliable Gibbs-Stewart No. 5, brass and silver, I acquired a big spinner and netted some minnows to bait my hook. With that I caught more fish, but not as many as the other fishermen. In the meantime, they'd moved out of spinners and minnows into plugs. So I got myself a Martin plug.

The trouble with plugs, the experts told me, was their attraction for cod. If you trolled anywhere near a kelp bed, you'd have so many cod on your hook there wouldn't be room for salmon.

Once, and once only, I caught a cod. But by that time the boys had abandoned plugs for gang trolls and bucktail flies. That was relatively recently.

So I got myself a bucktail—a beautiful bucktail with a double hook and red-white and blue dyed horsehair trailing all around it.

It seems a shame to put it in the water. The thing should be worn as a rosette on May 24 and at Coronations, but I've been pulling it through the salt chuck for two or three years now.

COMEDY RELIEF

The fish love it. They haven't found any comedy interest to beat it for several seasons. I picture them swimming along beside my bucktail, nudging each other with their fins and chortling. "Lookit the good old bucktail. Remember when we used to take them? That was years ago. I lost a grandmother to a bucktail once. Wouldn't touch it if my girls needed padding. Pretty, though, isn't it? Why doesn't the guy wear it in his hat?"

It seems to me I might as well. The only thing it ever caught was the guy who bought it.

Now, they tell me, you catch fish with a flasher the size of a dishpan, about half a yard of transparent nylon behind it and a piece of herring wrapped around the hook.

I'd buy that, but more recently I've heard that the favorite this season is a No. 2 silver Stewart with a small bucktail attached directly to it.

No doubt you'll see me dropping the small shining silver with its colored plume into the water out by Trial. Only by that time the fish will have changed back to the simple old Gibbs-Stewart No. 5—and I'll be just far enough behind the trend to have one left in my tackle box.

Time for Another Look

IT is sometimes instructive to take a pause for breath, and to compare what we have done with what we hoped to do.

In the autumn of 1950, when Dean G. Acheson pounded on a table in the Waldorf-

Astoria in New York, and demanded the rearmament of Western Germany, American policy underwent a great change which was hardly noticed at the time. This changed policy was based on a series of entirely logical assumptions, which had been made, not in the state department, but in the Pentagon. These were:

First, the Korean aggression demonstrated that the Soviets were willing to risk a world war.

Second, the Soviets would have a decisive stockpile of atomic weapons by the period 1953-54. This was to be the "time of great danger."

Third, if at this time the Soviets still had the power to overrun all the European continent, the balance of world power would shift decisively in favor of the Kremlin.

Fourth, a solid defense of Western Europe must therefore be built.

And fifth, no such defense was possible without the participation of Western Germany.

This was the logic which led Dean Acheson to pound on the table in 1950. But consider what has happened, since the attempt was made to translate this impeccable logic into practice.

The scaled-down post-1950 goal called for a French army or at least 28 standing divisions by 1953-54. The French actually have in Europe 14 divisions, of which at least six remain wholly or partly on paper. French plans call for a reduction, rather than an increase, in military spending. The same tendency exists in all Western European countries, including Great Britain.

The original Pentagon timetable for the American build-up has also been consistently "stretched out," and there are apparently further stretch-outs to come. Finally, there has appeared no sound reason for revising the Pentagon's two key assumptions—that the Soviet might be willing to risk war, and that they will have a decisive atomic stockpile by 1953-54, which, after all, is now.

It is possible to be too gloomy about the situation of the West, now that the "time of greatest danger" is upon us. American military power has certainly increased, since the days of Louis A. Johnson. No one claims that solid defense of Western Europe has been created, but at least there exists a fairly powerful deterrent. The military planners believe that the tactical atomic bomb plus satellite resistance at least partly close the gap between what we have and what we hoped for. It is undoubtedly true that the Red army cannot now take Europe without a warning mobilization and heavy sacrifice.

Yet there is no use blinking the fact that there is a vast gulf between what we have done and what we hoped to do, and believed it essential to do, three years ago. Therefore this may be a good time for the American policy-makers to have a new look at the situation which confronts them in Europe, and at least to ask themselves some questions.

Whatever the outcome of the German elections, as long as Germany is split in two the overriding interest of all Germans will be a united Germany. As they have made very clear for three years now, the French see their overriding interest, not in terms of the defense of France against Soviet attack, but in terms of preventing the effective rearmament of Germany.

In these circumstances, is Franco-German military and political "integration" really a practical matter?

As long as the Red army controls half of Europe, indeed, is any kind of solid defense of the Continent really possible? If the answer to this question is "no," what kind of risks are we prepared to take, and what kind of concessions are we prepared to offer, in order to get the Red army out of the heart of Europe? Finally, if the Soviets will under no conceivable circumstances withdraw, the Red Army to the Soviet borders—which is entirely probable—is it not then time to make a great effort to show the world that this is so?

IN HOLLYWOOD

Rhonda Too Beautiful

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Being beautiful and talented doesn't always help a girl in Hollywood because, if she's too beautiful, she may wind up as a piece of scenery.

Take Rhonda Fleming, for example. It almost happened to her.

The titan-haired actress can laugh about it now, but it didn't seem so funny to her a few years ago when studio executives were racking their brains for a suitable nickname like "The Chassis," "The Hair," or "The Torso."

Rhonda "suffers" from being remarkably beautiful, and she admits she has landed key parts in some films strictly because of her photogenic qualities rather than her acting ability.

But finally she put her pretty foot down and demanded that her agent get some roles where she could do something beside stand around like a glorified model.

As a result, there's a new Rhonda on the screen, one quite obviously talented as well as decorative. In fact, in Nat Holt's historic epic of the fighting frontier, "Pony Express," the ravishing red-head portrayed a wicked, scheming villainess who is reformed by the power of love. She handles the role with the skill and ease of a veteran.

"That seemed to surprise a lot of people on the Paramount lot," says Miss Fleming. "They had always thought of me as a Technician prop, which just goes to show how easily a person can be typed."

"I made my screen debut as a psycho-patient in a picture called 'Spellbound.' I used no make-up and my hair was a mess, yet the critics seemed to like me and I got plenty of fan mail."

That, of course, was before the make-up and wardrobe experts began to embellish her plentiful natural assets. Then came a series of romantic leads in which she was the glamorous heroine, a creature of seductive sights and tempting airs, which she is finally getting away from.

ISLAND DIGEST

NANAIMO—A letter from a Vancouver man, suggesting that the city manager plan to adopt here and that he be hired to fill the new post, was received and filed by city council.

His reasons for wanting the job were that he wanted to live in Nanaimo, he was impressed by the city's "fabulous economic potential," and was a bagpiper who was interested in Nanaimo Pipe Band.

DUNCAN—Some 30 entrants auditioned here and in Victoria will appear on the Cowichan Arena stage Friday night in a five-hour amateur talent show. Victorians taking part in the vaudeville section of the program will include Reg Stoffer, Roley Walsh and Fred Usher's Hometowners.

DUNCAN—Dr. Grant Redford, author and professor of creative writing at the University of Washington, is directing a writer's workshop at Egan Camp, Cherry Point, attended by authors and journalists from Vancouver Island and the B.C. mainland.

The course, to close Saturday, will concern writing and marketing of material for magazines, radio and the stage.

DUNCAN—District 65 School Board will seek approval of the three sections of the school district for a temporary loan of up to $3,500 to correct conditions in the foundation of Cowichan High School.

The money would be in addition to $10,000 placed in a reserve fund for the work, and would be included in the 1954 budget.

NANAIMO—Two city air cadets, Flt. Sgt. Donald Nicholson and Cpl. Len Campbell, have graduated from the Victoria Flying School with private pilots' licenses.

Flt. Sgt. Nicholson, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Nicholson, topped Vancouver Island cadets and was fifth in the province.

Marquis Throws $200,000 Ball for 2,000 Guests

By JEAN FLOWS

BIARRITZ, France (Reuters)—The Marquis de Cuevas adjusted his headpiece of grapes, hitched up his silken pantaloons, eased himself into his satin-covered throne at 10 p.m. sharp Tuesday night, and declared the "ball of the century" officially open.

To the strains of a Mozart minuet, the first of 2,000 family-dressed guests—the famous and not-so-famous of three continents—passed through the closely-guarded gates of the Chiberta Country Club of this millionaires' resort between a double row of lackeys in knee breeches.

After a last-minute tug at their powdered wigs, they bowed solemnly in front of their host and passed on, straight out of the atomic age and into the 18th century.

Their limousines were driven off until sunrise, when the $200,000 ball ended.

Under the brilliant starlight of a warm summer night the "fete de danse," in honor of Louis XIV, began with the music of five orchestras—rumba bands as well as string ensembles. Musicians were clad in the knee-breeches and buckled shoes of the period. So were the waiters, the guards, reporters, photographers and policemen specially drafted from the Biarritz force to look after the guests.

The two open-air dance floors were painted green to look like meadows. Mingling with the orchestral strains came the genuine bleating and mooing of a collection of sheep and cows brought in to lend a real pastoral atmosphere.

The marquis, a grand son-in-law of the late John D. Rockefeller, stepped down from his throne only after the last blast of trumpets had heralded the last of the guests.

Dressed as "the king of nature," a $1,400 costume trimmed with golden fruits and vegetables, he mingled with the groups taking the champagne and caviar at 12 buffet tables.

First and foremost in the male ranks were thoughts of a vision—not a bit in the 18th century motif—when French dancer Renee "Zizi" Jeanmaire rode into the party scantily dressed, astride a camel.

Miss Jeanmaire, who played in the movie, "Hans Christian Andersen," created a sensation as they watched her ride a camel in to present herself to her ballet-loving host.

Her concept of the 18th century differed from that of most of the guests, in their cumbersome velvet outfits topped with powdered wigs.

Miss Jeanmaire wore only brief patches of sequins and here and there a spot of jewelry. Later, for the dancing, she sported a frilly gauze dress.

The marquis' guests had one surprise: Ex-king Peter of Yugoslavia turned up after all, at 3 a.m. Soon thereafter he somehow got into a spat with a Spanish army officer, who was

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

15,000th Mineral Claim Sets Yearly Mark for Saskatchewan

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (UP)—George Findlay, veteran Prince Albert, Sask., prospector, has staked Saskatchewan's 15,000th mineral claim of the year.

Resources Minister J. H. Brockelbank said the new figure was a new provincial record dwarfing last year's all-time high of 4,151. It also was believed to top all other provinces in the number of claims staked this year.

Findlay made the claim at Cup Lake, 95 miles northwest of Regina last July 28 and it was recorded Tuesday along with eight other Findlay claims. Findlay, who works under the provincially-sponsored prospectors' association plan, will receive official recognition for the history-making claim during a ceremony at Laronge Friday.

FOODIE WINS HONORS

CALGARY (CP)—A blue-grey miniature poodle, Pahorama Foolish Flirt, from Tucson, Ariz., won "best dog in the show" honors at the Alberta Kennel Club's 1953 fall dog show.

The owner of the dog is Emil Krucker. The poodle won over more than 120 dogs from both Canada and the U.S.

A boxer, Edmar's Caesar Augustus, owned by Jane Campbell of Port Coquitlam, B.C., was named best Canadian bred dog.

SIX POLIO DEATHS

REGINA (CP)—Six polio deaths were reported in Saskatchewan last week, boosting to 28 the number of deaths due to the disease reported up to Aug. 31, health authorities said Tuesday. Total number of cases so far this year was set at 453, an increase of 108 over the week previous.

GOAT PROBLEM

'Copters May Fly Them Into Korea

INCHON, Korea (UP)—A shipload of goats from India became the centre of a possible international controversy Tuesday.

The goats are part of a shipment of livestock on the way to Korea to provide food for Indian troops taking charge of war prisoners refusing repatriation.

South Korean President Syngman Rhee has refused to permit the 5,000 Indian troops to set foot on his country's soil and they are being transported to the Korean neutral zone by helicopter.

The thought of transferring the goats to an aircraft carrier, putting life jackets on them and loading them into helicopters has Allied naval officers fretting.

The South Korean government will have to decide whether the goats are of Indian nationality or an international breed.

BABY BORN IN IRON LUNG

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—A 26-year-old woman, paralyzed from the neck down by polio last week, gave birth to a boy in an iron lung here Tuesday.

Doctors feared Mrs. Marvin Rowe would suffocate if removed long enough for the birth.

They eased the child through the lung portholes. Baby and mother are doing well.

Salmon Fishing, Why, It's Easy

By BOB HUTCHISON

Salmon fishing—why, there's really nothing to it! That was the impression Dr. Charles Guiguet left with members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

Provincial Museum biologist Dr. Guiguet didn't profess to be a world beater, but he did reveal that fishing was a matter of experiment.

He expounded some of his own personal theories and the fact that he admitted to having caught (and released) 70 coho off 10-mile point on one outing and 40 in Saanich Inlet on another occasion, more or less proved the point that fishing is only what you make of it. Nothing else.

Dr. Guiguet divided his talk into two parts, one on spring salmon fishing and the other on coho.

For good spring fishing, he said, it was not necessary to go deep as most people do. He admitted fish could be caught deep, but said "you'll get more fish and fun if you get them on the surface."

"I like nylon line and never more than 60 feet and six ounces of weight. About 40 feet and four ounces is what I use, mostly," he added.

For emphasis he pulled a large dodger from his coat pocket and described its intricacies.

"The dodger," he remarked emphatically, "is the hardest thing to fish with in tidal waters."

When it comes to advice on how to catch fish the proof is in the pudding.

After Dr. Charles Guiguet, provincial biologist, had given his secrets on this subject to the Kiwanis Club Tuesday, he was thanked by Kiwanian Frank Ivings, who vouched for the doctor's ability.

But just to prove it Ivings took two friends out to Canoe Cove Tuesday evening and reeled in three nice coho, while other boats in the vicinity found it an "off" night.

He pointed out the motion necessary for results and said to get this movement you have to keep bending the dodger. Going with or against the tide makes a change in the dodger's action and it is necessary to adjust it each time the boat changes directions. Going against the tide bend the front down, with the tide bend it up. But continual experiment is the way to get it right.

"Put your weight no more than six feet in front of the dodger," he also pointed out. The dodger with a No. 4 Tom Mack spoon was as good as a herring strip.

"It smells less too," he laughed.

On coho fishing the doctor warned to his subject.

"The coho season started in March and has been going on ever since," he said. "And I've been catching them right along."

A bucktail fisherman himself, he talked chiefly on how to catch coho on this type of lure.

"A green and white bucktail is deadly," he declared. "But it must be doctored first. A two-hook fly with a gold hook trailing—that gold hook is important—is the best kind. Then cut the bucktail short so that the gold hook shows a bit," he stressed.

This should be fished with 15 to 40 feet of line, a small spinner and "absolutely" no weight. An eight-pound test leader about six inches shorter than the rod was best, he thought.

"The speed of the boat is critical," he pointed out. "Fish your fly at the edge of the wake of the boat and at a speed so that it is just submerged. Throttle up until it's on top and then throttle down so it is just underneath."

He felt the way to catch fish was to fish the tides. A half-hour before low slack and then for an hour or two after the change was the best time. But any change was good, he said.

A glassy surface was fine, he stressed, and the boat's wake was an attraction not a deterrent to the coho.

"And don't work your fly," he said. "I've seen fish scared off that way. Just leave it alone to drag."

"The coho is a sunshine fish," he asserted. "When the sun goes down forget about coho."

The noted biologist has traveled most of British Columbia's coast and has done a great deal of study on fish habits. These methods he found best after many experiments.

Nanaimo May Enter City Hockey League

A Nanaimo team, coached by Eddie Shamlock, may be the fourth entry in the Victoria Commercial Hockey League this year.

League president Doug Fletcher announced today that Shamlock had applied for the fourth franchise, left vacant by the withdrawal of Army. The soldiers were forced to withdraw when they were unable to use civilian players. Other teams already entered for the season are Victoria Merchants, Navy and last year's Individual Cleaners.

Fletcher said today, "We would like to have four local teams entered if possible as there would be certain travel difficulties involved with Nanaimo. However, if we do not receive an application from Victoria in the next few days, I will call a meeting to seriously consider Nanaimo's request."

If accepted, Nanaimo would play home games Saturday night and in Victoria Wednesday night.

Among the players Shamlock has lined up for the season are goalie Spanky Hodgson, Red Carr, Joe Zuback, Len Plensky, Nanaimo lacrosse coach Arnie Duggan, Mouse Harris and Les Mitchell.

Oak Bay Wanderers of the First Division Rugby League will hold their first practice of the season Thursday night at Windsor Park at 6 under coach Dick Ellis.

Esquimalt, of the Victoria and District Football Association, will hold a practice Thursday night at 7:30 in Fraser Street Hall, instead of tonight, as previously scheduled.

Early Wynn struck out 10 in winning his 16th game for Cleveland. The 13-hit Indian attack included Al Rosen's 36th home run.

Gus Zernial of Philadelphia passed Rosen with a pair of homers, his 36th and 37th, off Detroit's Ned Garver. Fine relief work by Ray Herbert silenced the As from the fifth on and the Tigers came from behind to win.

The name is Richard Cunningham. Remember it. You may be hearing a lot of it in the future.

Motivation for that prediction is the fact that Cunningham shot a 45 on the front nine at Victoria Golf Club Sunday. Not much to get excited over you say? Well, the fact of the matter is that Richard Cunningham is nine years old, weighs 82 pounds and stands four feet, 8½ inches off the tee mat.

The youngster, a gold-plated bet to succeed in the professional golf racket, is a native of Fresno, California, and is currently in town with his father, Lee Cunningham. Mr. Cunningham is attending a convention at the Empress Hotel.

The husky youngster, with a well-scrubbed face and short blond hair, has no time for model airplanes, slingshots or marbles. He is training right now to move in when Ben Hogan, Sammy Snead, Julius Hogan and Lew Worsham move out. Or, as Richard himself says, "A golf pro is exactly what I want to be. When I grow up I am going to buy a car and a trailer and take Mommy and Daddy all over the country while I play in the tournaments. Boy, will that ever be swell."

Richard has a dog, plays the piano and likes baseball. But golf is a thing apart. His father claims that Richard, who has had over 60 lessons, plays every day, weather permitting, at Fresno. A year ago, the lad was shooting around 120. Right now his average score is around 95. He plays to a 27 handicap.

His father explains that when Richard was very young he was extremely high-strung. Dad was a member of the Fresno Little League board of directors and one of his co-directors suggested that golf might be a calming influence on the youngster's nerves. Mr. Cunningham bought his son a set of four junior clubs and turned him over to the professional at the Fresno Municipal Course.

"The change in the boy has been remarkable," said Mr. Cunningham. "He was so nervous a few years ago that his mother and I worried

Most Likely to Succeed

An almost sure bet to gather fame and fortune in the professional golf world of the future is nine-year-old Richard Cunningham of Fresno, Calif. Visiting the city with his father, Richard has been playing every day at Victoria Golf Club and shot a sizzling 45 for nine holes recently. Determined to become as famous as Bobby Jones, Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson, Richard is probably the youngest golfermaniac in the county. (See story below.) (Times photo.)

Braves Get Final Crack At Brooks

Milwaukee Braves get a last look tonight at the home of the team they couldn't beat for the National League pennant.

Brooklyn Dodgers represent the one jinx the Braves failed to shake in their move from Boston to Milwaukee. Charlie Grimm's charges convinced the rest of the league the bold Braves of Milwaukee bore no resemblance to the woe-begone team that huddled in seventh place in Boston a year ago. But they couldn't persuade the Dodgers.

With four meetings remaining—two in Brooklyn tonight and Thursday and two in Milwaukee later this month—the Dodgers lead the Braves 12-6 for the season. Last year when the Braves performed out of Boston the Dodgers beat them 18 times.

LABOR DAY CLIMAX? Milwaukee has clinched this season's series with every other team except St. Louis Cardinals and they lead the Red Birds 10-6.

At the moment Brooklyn holds its fattest margin of the season over the Braves—11 games—and has a theoretical chance to wrap up the flag by the end of the Labor Day doubleheaders, 20 days before the season ends.

Tuesday Brooklyn ended a perfect home season against the Cardinals—11 victories in 11 games—with a 12-5 decision despite five St. Louis home runs. New York Giants showed Chicago Cubs 10-9 in the only other National League action.

New York Yankees moved nine and one-half games in front of the faltering Chicago White Sox as they tripped the Sox 3-2 at Chicago. Cleveland resumed its winning ways at the expense of Boston Red Sox 13-3 and Detroit defeated Philadelphia Athletics 7-5. St. Louis Browns and Washington were not scheduled. The third-place Indians are within a game of the White Sox and 10½ behind New York.

Early Wynn struck out 10 in winning his 16th game for Cleveland. The 13-hit Indian attack included Al Rosen's 36th home run.

Gus Zernial of Philadelphia passed Rosen with a pair of homers, his 36th and 37th, off Detroit's Ned Garver. Fine relief work by Ray Herbert silenced the As from the fifth on and the Tigers came from behind to win.

INTERCITY FINALS RESUME HERE TONIGHT

Blonds, Bombs and Boxla

The spotlights and bomb-sights will be on Archie Browning and Whitey Severson tonight as the Intercity Lacrosse League's final chapter goes into its third part.

Victoria Shamrocks and Vancouver Pilseners take up tonight where they left off Monday in Vancouver—having at each other in the best-of-seven playoff to decide who meets Peterborough for the Mann Cup.

And if Monday's game was an indication of what will prevail during the entire series, it will be Browning and Severson, who will be watched by the fans and by the Pils.

The bombarding blonds scored 11 points between them Monday when Shamrocks bowed to Pils 10-9—Browning scoring five goals and two assists and Severson marking one goal and three assists.

But more important, the mighty mites received more attention from the Pils than any other five Rocks. Hounded through the entire game, Severson and Browning were continually up against, not necessarily brutal checking, but the type designed to intimidate and exhaust them.

While the coverage did not stop their scoring, both players were exhausted at the games' end and Severson had a painful back from the severe checking.

As was the case Monday, it is expected that Jack Byford will shadow Severson again, with Alex McKay hounding Browning.

The Rocks plan two line-up changes tonight—Bill Bamford taking over on the defense for Jackie Thompson, and Sarge Sammartino returning to the second forward line in place of Billy Jobb, who suffered a separated shoulder Monday when boarded by Ernie Smith of Pils.

Rebuilding Program Tyee Aim

An internal rebuilding program for the Tyees is already in the formative stages.

"We intend to start working on next year's club immediately following the conclusion of this season," said club president Arthur Cox Tuesday night.

Cox was answering a query in regard to Tuesday's appeal for added fan support in the final four games of the season. Increased attendance is needed in order that the club meet payroll commitments.

In a prepared release Cox stated that an average attendance of 2,000 was needed at the four games to meet the club payroll. The games, the final ones for the Tyees at home this season, are against Vancouver Capilanos, who open here Thursday night.

"I still feel that Victoria can support baseball and wants to," he said. "But we must have that assurance. Given the support of the public, we can carry on." He declined to elaborate further but inferred that if Victoria fans express this vote of confidence in baseball, ways and means would be found to prevent a similar situation from occurring again.

It also appeared evident at the informal meeting in the club offices that some directors present felt perhaps the club had been lax in its public relations in the past and that one of the first moves would be to correct this oversight.

Les Stockell Captures Seattle Race

Two Victoria YMCA distance runners took first and third places in a 25 kilometer run at Seattle, Sunday.

Les Stockell, defending Good Friday Victoria Legion Road Race champion, won the grueling race in the excellent time of one hour, 26 minutes and 26 seconds. The course was five and a half laps around Seattle's Green Lake, about 15 miles.

Gordon Hartley, also wearing "Y" colors finished third behind Al Sweeney of Vancouver in one hour, 42 minutes and 56 seconds.

Fourth was Ev Black of the U.S. Navy, and fifth was Thad McArthur of the Washington Athletic Club. McArthur competed for the United States in the Helsinki Olympics last summer in the modern pentathlon.

Jack Robbins Returns To United Soccer Club

Victoria United received a pleasant surprise Tuesday night in their first practice of the season when Jackie Robbins made an unexpected appearance.

The rangy halfback, who specializes in penalty kicking, did not play last year, but has moved from his farm to the city and will be available for all United games this season.

Other players from last year's Coast Soccer League team who attended the workout were Bill McAllister, John Pickburn, Ray Wilkinson, Bill Hope, Harry Carruthers and Alex Stewart.

Playing coach Wally Milligan had car trouble and did not arrive in time for the practice.

United hopes to sign Jackie Whent, a Coast League player who has returned to Vancouver after a hitch with Brighton and Luton Town in England.

Bottler Hurls 10th Win; Helbig, Martin Provide Punch

Victoria 14, Yakima 4

By BILL WALKER

The Victoria Tyees have been doing a lot of waiting for their paycheques, as Tuesday's startling club announcement revealed.

Three Yakima moundmen set their sights on the plate in vain. Danny Rios started, only to be shelved in favor of Jack Rial in the third, who, in turn, gave way to a pinch hitter, and eventually Dick Young, who bore the full force of the eighth-inning explosion.

Helbig and Martin shared batting honors, Helbig getting three singles, driving in two runs and scoring four. Martin had two doubles, drove in four runs and scored three. Moniz, Harford and Bottler each drove in a pair.

Bottler breezed to his 10th victory, though allowing 11 hits. He was in grief early when Jim McNamara tripled and Andy Anderson singled to open the first frame, but he wiggled out from under the potential Yakima power. Only in the seventh thereafter did the Bears grow ominously. Albini doubling home two runs.

The clubs meet in the wind-up game of their three-game set tonight with Bill Prior the likely starter in the "Family Night" presentation, Game time is 8.

Leger to Coach Shawinigan Club

MONTREAL (CP)—Roger Leger, all-star defenceman with Montreal Royals last year, has signed as coach of the Shawinigan Falls Cataracts of the Quebec Hockey League, it was announced Tuesday night.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Al Juergens, 144, San Antonio, stopped Chato Hernandez, 144, Mexico (P).

WIL Leaders Beaten; Broncs Retain Lead

Front-running Lewiston and Spokane suffered setbacks in Western International League play Tuesday night but the only change in the standing was Edmonton's elevation to fifth place.

The Eskimos grabbed the first division berth with a 4-3 win over Salem. That left them a single percentage point ahead of the Vancouver Capilanos who dropped into the second division despite a 3-1 victory over Lewiston.

Spokane bowed to Wenatchee 4-3 and remained half a game behind Lewiston. Tri-City and Calgary were rained out at Calgary.

Salem's Gene Roensple held Edmonton hitless until the fourth inning when he served up a home run ball to Sam Kanelos, who collected three of the seven Eskimo safeties.

Lonnie Myers, making his last appearance in a Vancouver uniform, notched a seven-hitter to give the Caps a 2-0 edge in the series with Lewiston. Myers, who will report to the Pacific Coast League Seattle Rainiers Thursday along with Bob Roberts, allowed four of the hits and Lewiston's only tally in the first inning.

Reno Peter Bertioia, who lives in Windsor, Ont., signed a contract and received a bonus reported between $10,000 and $20,000.

Earlier in the season—the Tigers shelled out $65,000 for pitcher Bob Miller and $30,000 for outfielder Al Kaline. Both are 18.

New Fivepin Rules Adopted

By RON COULTER

You can take all your old fivepin rule books and throw them out the door, keglers, for this season the game will be governed under a new set of laws.

A new constitution is being adopted by the recently formed Canadian Bowling Association, which has set as its goal a uniform count and set of rules for the game of fivepins throughout Canada. The rule book will be issued to alley operators and managers shortly.

The CBA was formed at a recent meeting between Western Canada fivepin bowling delegates and eastern officials. Two important rule changes have been agreed upon—a new official count for fivepins and a foul penalty. Both are scheduled to go into effect with the beginning of league play this month. Many alleys are now using the two changes in open play to give trundlers an opportunity to become familiar with the scoring before league play starts.

New Count Ends Controversy

The new count brings to an end a controversy between the east and west which has carried on for years.

Eastern bowlers have been using the western No. 1 pin as head pin and king pin for years, while western trundlers, have been using the No. 5 pin as head pin with the No. 1 or No. 2 as the king pin.

Under the new law the head pin will be known and valued as the No. 5 pin, while the value of each side pin is three and the corner pins two.

The king pin will be the left corner pin for right-handed bowlers, as it has been in the west, while left-handed keglers will have the option of using either corner pin, but must declare their choice before starting play.

Corner pins left standing now will be marked as "L" or "R" instead of "C1" or "C2" as was previously used.

A penalty for each foul has been set at 15 points.

Under the revised system an "F" will be marked in the frame in which a foul has been committed and at the end of the game the scorer will subtract 15 points for each "F."

Pins Knocked Down Stay Down

No pin is ever respotted, except in the case of a dead ball. All pins knocked down are counted just as they would be if a foul had not been committed. Under this system no possible gain can be obtained by deliberately fouling.

Beginners need not worry; they can't end up with a score less than zero. No minus score is allowed, even if the total of foul penalties exceed the total score.

The association is asking trundlers to help make the switch in rules as smooth as possible so as to have the uniform system in effect in event of a sponsored Canadian Fivepin championship tourney.

HEPBURN REVEALS SECRET

He Whiffed and He Sniffed, Then, by Golly, He Won

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (CP)—Doug Hepburn, new world's heavyweight weightlifting champion of Vancouver, said Tuesday a sniff from a mysterious bottle offered by a Russian doctor may have helped him win the title.

Hepburn, 26-year-old former lifeguard who weighs 280 pounds, won the championship Sunday in Stockholm and twice broke records doing it.

Interviewed on his arrival from Stockholm, Hepburn said that he was given a sniff from a bottle offered by a Dr. Eganov with the Russian team after the bottle had been passed around among Russian competitors.

"I don't know what the stuff was," Hepburn said. "The Russian doctor could only speak a few words of English."

He said the sniff "was a very precious help to me. I cannot say whether I could have won without it."

The Russian also assisted Hepburn when he climbed down from the ring at Stockholm, dried his face and gave him a massage. Hepburn ventured the explanation that the Russian's motive in helping him was to prevent the title from going to an American.

Hepburn, only Canadian entry in the competition, lifted a total of 1,030½ pounds in taking the top honors.

John Davis of the United States, the man Hepburn had earlier named as the one to beat, was second with 1,008½ pounds.

While the Russians did not compete in the heavyweight division, a win by Davis would have earned the U.S. enough points to tie with Russia for the "best nation" title in the overall team competition.

On his second try, Hepburn set a world press record and then broke his own record on the third attempt.

He failed on the first press attempt at 341½ pounds but lifted 364 pounds on the second attempt and 369 on the third.

He is scheduled to leave Copenhagen for Zurich, Switzerland Thursday on his way back to Canada.

Tillicums Trounce Grand Spot

Tillicums ran roughshod over Grand Spot for a 23-0 victory Tuesday night in the first game of the Senior "B" Softball League's Peden Knockout Trophy tournament at Heywood Avenue.

League, city and island champions, Tillicums were led at the plate by Bill Merluk who clouted five hits, including a home run, in seven tries. Ray Hanson added a home run.

Jack Elliott pitched seven innings of the shutout and was relieved by coach Lou McCorkall, who held the shutout.

As they are playing in a provincial tournament over the week-end, McCorkall was preserving his pitching staff.

Edmonton Man Again Heads Broadcasters

JASPER, Alta. (CP)—Gerry Gaetz, manager of CJCA, Edmonton was re-elected Tuesday as president of the Western Association of Broadcasters.

More than 100 delegates, in the second day of their three-day annual meeting, also elected the following directors: Manitoba: John Craig, CBX, Brandon; Saskatchewan: Sid Boyling, CHAB, Moose Jaw; Alberta: Gerry Gaetz, CJCA, Edmonton; British Columbia: F. H. Elphickie, CKWX, Vancouver; and William Rea Jr., CKNW, New Westminster.

Delegates decided to meet next year at Banff, Alta., in late August or early September. They approved a revised constitution which makes more flexible the association's internal operations and recognizes its growth since its formation in 1935. The meeting ends Wednesday with study of the report of the resolution committee.

Chest Drive Follows New Pattern in City

Plans for a completely different and more streamlined canvass of industrial-commercial areas for Community Chest this year were announced today by H. W. Gladwell.

Industrial-commercial division chairman for the $210,686 drive, Mr. Gladwell said the business area will extend to Hillside and Vancouver Streets from the harbor.

It will be broken up into 90-block units and 10 vice-chairmen will be responsible for nine units each. A team captain will be appointed for each block who will in turn be in charge of canvassers.

A pool of canvassers will be provided by city service clubs and other organizations.

CONCENTRATED EFFORT

"Where in previous years a canvasser has had one type of business to call on and has had to chase all over town, now his calls will be next door to one another," Mr. Gladwell stated.

Every business will be approached for a donation from the manager, the business and each of the employees.

Chest officials hope businesses will co-operate in permitting a payroll deduction plan on behalf of employees.

"After all, the Chest needs it every month," added Mr. Gladwell. "... There are 16 separate health, welfare and recreational agencies depending on this drive. If every person would give half of one per cent of his income we would soon be over the top."

KEY TO SUCCESS

He pointed out that extra bookkeeping entailed by the payroll deduction plan is very little and that the success of the campaign may depend on making it easier to give.

"If the campaign is successful we will eventually have all the fund drives included with the Community Chest."

"But if it fails we will likely be faced with 16 separate appeals throughout the year," he warned.

The chairman added that industrial-commercial firms can be provided with speakers.

SC LEOBE DEFEATS LIBERAL MURRAY IN CARIBOO RIDING

PRINCE GEORGE.—Final results from Canada's largest federal riding—Cariboo—confirmed Monday the election of Social Credit candidate Bert Leboe by a margin of 404 votes over Liberal George Murray.

Counting in the widespread constituency was delayed as one poll had to be transported by pack horse to Prince George.

Returning officer T. S. Carmichael said Leboe had 5,562 votes to Murray's 5,158. William Irvine, CCF candidate, polled 4,314.

Socially Insecure Not Seeking Haven In Victoria, Welfare Figures Indicate

Theory that Victoria's mild climate attracted many people who later became city charges was disproved by figures presented Tuesday by City Welfare Administrator Florence E. Mutrie.

In a report to social welfare committee meeting Mrs. Mutrie said about 73 per cent of the city's 2,896 social assistance cases have resided in Victoria more than 10 years, and 87 per cent in B.C. more than 10 years. A study was made to determine if there is any truth in the theory, that many newcomers eventually became city charges. "These figures would indicate this belief to be unwarranted," said Mrs. Mutrie. Only four per cent of cases had resided in the city less than two years, and only five per cent in the province less than two years. The schipperke, a small black Belgian dog, is used on canal barges there as a watchdog.

BUILDING STILL BOOMING

Saanich August Permits Total Well Over Half-Million Mark

There is no let-up in the Saanich building boom which started early this spring. A total of 102 permits valued at $518,925 was issued in August. Fifty-four of these permits were for dwellings with a total value of $33,925.

PARKS BODY WOULD REDUCE BEACON HILL SPEED LIMIT

A 20-mile an hour speed limit, instead of the present 30, on roads within Beacon Hill Park will be recommended to city council meeting Thursday by the parks committee. The committee at its meeting Tuesday agreed to ask the B.C. Electric and V.I. Coach Lines to refrain from using Beacon Hill Park as a testing ground for buses.

August Temperatures Vary From Chill 40 to Hot 82

Temperatures during the lack-lustre month of August ranged from a low of 49.7 degrees on Aug. 1 to 82.1 degrees Aug. 15, temporary weatherman Ted Walker reported today.

Lowest temperature recorded on the grass was 40.9 degrees, also on Aug. 1, he said.

Mean temperature for the month was 61.2 degrees, or 1.2 degrees higher than August's average.

Despite apparent gloomy weather, rainfall was only .25 of an inch, or 39 of an inch less than usual. Rain fell on six days instead of the customary five in August, and total precipitation for the year to Aug. 31 was 17.32 inches, or 3.57 inches more than usually recorded at that time.

Sunshine for the month totaled 261.7 hours, instead of the long-standing August average of 302.1 hours.

B.C. Salmon Research Pays Big Dividend

VANCOUVER (CP). — As a result of years of research and conservation methods, the Quenel River system in central British Columbia has been restored as a major sockeye salmon spawning stream, says H. R. MacMillan, recently back from an inspection of the area. Mr. MacMillan, a member of the international salmon fisheries commission, paid tribute to the achievement of commission scientists as a "modern miracle."

He says the Horsefly River is now alive with spawning sockeye in an area that a few years ago was practically written off for future salmon production.

WOMAN SUFFERS FATAL ATTACK AT PNE

VANCOUVER (BUP). — Mrs. Retta Mary Lesage, Vancouver, collapsed and died Sunday night at the Pacific National Exhibition, becoming the first fatality at the fair since the end of the war. The woman was stricken, apparently by a heart attack, outside the livestock building and was dead on arrival at hospital.

She was aged 70.

Cycling British Family Reaches Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP). — A perambulating threesome from England, with a new wrinkle on family transit, pedaled into Vancouver Tuesday on Transportation Day.

George and Margaret Whitford wheeled their tandem bicycle into the Pacific National Exhibition grounds with their two-year-old son Jimmy alumbering in a tiny trailer. They said they intend to settle in Vancouver. They didn't care much for Quebec City, where they were robbed of all the spare parts for their bicycle.

George and Margaret were allowed only $58 each immigrants' allowance—"we were broke by Sault Ste. Marie." In Sault Ste. Marie the Whitfords heard about a man who rolled a bottle across the country and sold postcards to pay for the trip. They tried it. "I guess we sold about $600 in postcards as well as making friends in every Canadian town we visited," said Margaret, 24.

British Atom Defense Said Ahead of U.S.

WASHINGTON (UP). — Sen. Alexander Wiley said Tuesday the British are far ahead of the United States in atomic bomb defenses. He called for "inventive incentive" to step up American research in the same field.

The Wisconsin Republican, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, told reporters the British have developed a guided-missile device which can "pursue and attack a plane that carries the bomb."

He said they are advanced far beyond any form of atomic defense developed by the U.S. and "may have the answer" to enemy raids.

Wiley made his statement in the wake of another Russian A-bomb explosion. Less than a month ago, the Atomic Energy Commission also disclosed that the Soviets had tested a hydrogen bomb device.

The most important question facing the United States today, Wiley said, is "can American ingenuity develop the answer to the plane carrying the bomb."

"If we can, maybe we can sleep a little more at night," he added.

Riviera Residence of Jack Warner Robbed

CANNES, France (AP). — French police reported today that 25,000,000 francs ($71,400) in French and foreign currencies was stolen from the Riviera home of retired United States movie producer Jack Warner during an all-night party.

The police said Warner was not present. He left for Rome last week, they said, leaving his 18-year-old daughter at the villa at nearby Antibes.

According to the officials, the money was missed early this morning after a party at the house which lasted almost until dawn.

ANGRY MOOSE

BURNS LAKE, B.C. (CP). — Mrs. Rosemary Harrison stopped her car on the highway to let a big bull moose pass, but the animal charged the car, climbed on the hood and did considerable damage before returning to the woods.

Brigade Criticism Angers Gen. Simonds

OTTAWA (CP)—Lieut.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of staff of the Canadian army, Tuesday denounced as "absolutely deplorable" a Maclean's Magazine article criticizing Canada's 27th Brigade in Germany.

He spoke angrily at the conclusion of a press conference given by Field Marshal Sir John Harding, chief of the Imperial General Staff.

'Dead' Soldier Finds Wife Re-Married

GALENA PARK, Texas (AP)—Pte. Walter B. Dixon, whose sister has two death certificates for him—one signed by former President Truman—faced a dilemma today.

Back from the dead in the continuing prisoner-of-war exchanges at Panmunjom, the 23-year-old Galena Park soldier was reported killed in action, May 18, 1951.

Today, his 23-year-old wife, Mrs. Agnes Dixon of Lagrange, N.C., has a one-year-old son by her second husband, Pte. William S. Sasser of Lagrange. The boy was born seven months after her second marriage was annulled.

The sister, Mrs. Lorea Storey of Galena Park, said Monday night, "I feel sure Walter knows that Agnes married again, but I don't know if he is aware that she had a child."

"I've told him everything in many letters," the sister continued. "But I don't know if he got all the letters. He has never mentioned the child to me in any of his letters. He did say he would do whatever Agnes wanted to do."

REFUSED TO TALK

Mrs. Dixon, in Lagrange, refused to talk Monday night to Atlanta, Ga., newspapermen who reached her by telephone. Mrs. Storey said her sister-in-law revealed no plans to her in a letter she had from North Carolina last week.

"But she did say she was very anxious to see Walter," the sister said.

Mrs. Storey said Agnes legally cannot divorce Dixon until he returns to the United States. The couple were together but five days after their April 5, 1950, marriage. Mrs. Storey said, when he was ordered to the west coast and about a month later shipped to Korea.

Reported killed in action about a year later, it was not until late in 1951 that the Communists released his name as a war prisoner.

Two death certificates, one signed by Truman, the other from the State of Missouri, are among a pile of mementoes and clippings Mrs. Storey has on the case.

"The article is not true," he said. "It is an attack on the rank and file of the Canadian army."

He was referring to an article by Lionel Shapiro in a recent article commented unfavorably on the military efficiency and general conduct of the 27th Brigade.

The field marshal, meanwhile, had high praise for the brigade. He said he was surprised to hear of any criticism of it, adding:

"If I were going to war, I'd be happy to have the brigade in any group which I might have the privilege to command."

He recalled that in the last exercise the Canadians took part in while he was commanding in Germany, "they came through with flying colors. Their military efficiency was of a very high order."

Questioning of the field marshal on this subject appeared to have aroused the Canadian chief of staff. He told reporters that "we in what you call the top brass" are accustomed to criticism. But the article in question was an attack on the rank and file of the army and, as such, was "absolutely deplorable."

Field Marshal Harding was asked if he had received any reports of serious misconduct on the part of 27th Brigade members.

"If their behavior had been seriously bad, I'd have known about it and, as their commander-in-chief, I'd have had to have done something about it. But the fact is, I heard nothing of this nature."

November Photo Salon Here Known as Nation's Biggest

The annual Victoria International Salon of Photography, which has become Canada's largest photographic exhibition, will be held this year from Nov. 15 to 22, in the Empress Hotel library.

This will be the 13th annual salon. Interest shown by exhibitors from all parts of the world has already been greater this year than ever before. Closing date for entries is Oct. 17, and at least 1,000 prints have already been dispatched to Victoria for the show.

As in previous international salons, there will be competitions for monochrome and color prints and colored slides.

Since this is Coronation year, a special feature of the 1953 salon will be an invitational showing of original prints of Queen Elizabeth and the Royal Family. Coronation prints are expected for the show from the London studios of Dorothy Wilding and Baron.

Special awards for exhibitors of outstanding prints and slides will be in the form of gold-plated replicas of the anointing spoon used during the Coronation ceremony.

NO EASY MONEY

Alert Banks Foil Cheque Fraud Scheme

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—An old con game, believed by police never to have been tried before in Windsor, failed a Vancouver man taking his first fling at making money "the easy way."

Ralph Moslin, 29, pleaded guilty Tuesday on a charge of attempted fraud. He was remanded to Sept. 9 for sentence.

Detective Bud Cozon described to police court the system Moslin had tried. He first deposited $10 in new accounts in three different banks in the city. The following day, he wrote cheques for $400 on each of his new accounts, not cashing them, but depositing them in other of the accounts.

Later the same day he wrote and attempted to cash a cheque for $72 on one of the accounts. Bank managers had become suspicious and called in police.

EARLY SURGERY

DEVIZES, Eng. (CP)—Excavations in this Wiltshire district revealed the remains of a "Bronze Age" man with a disc cut out of his skull—earliest evidence found in Britain of prehistoric surgeons who operated on the human skull with flint instruments.

James A. McVie, APSA, is salon director. The show is sponsored by the Victoria Camera Club. Serving on the local committee are Irvine Dawson, Evelyn Burt-Smith, Frank Salls, Jack Hawkes, Harold Robinson, all of Victoria, and Stan Dakin of Nanaimo.

Print judges for this year's salon are Percy Bentley, FRPS, Vancouver; Que Chin, APSA, ARPS, Seattle; and Ken McAllister, Victoria. Colored slides will be judged by "Chao-Chen Yang, APSA, Seattle, and Peter Forrest and Harold Robinson of Victoria.

14 Anglican Dioceses Self-Supporting

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Canada's 28 Anglican dioceses are gradually becoming self-supporting. Rt. Rev. Robert Harold, bishop of Nova Scotia, said Monday night.

He was addressing the executive council of the general synod of the Church of England in Canada, which is meeting here.

Calgary had given up $3,000 in grants this year and has become self-supporting. Bishop Harold said there now are 14 assisted and 14 non-assisted dioceses in the country.

He reported that dioceses have accepted apportionments totalling $526,624 for 1953 and $550,166 for 1954. The executive agreed to grants of $470,928 for the missionary society, $37,839 for the board of religious education, $30,000 for social services and $17,150 for inter-church activities.

It was also reported that with a set minimum target of $10,000 in an emergency appeal for the flood victims of England and Western Europe, the church raised over $170,000.

The synod confirmed the retirement of Canon R. A. Hilt of Toronto as executive secretary. He became ill in February and has since been acting in an advisory capacity.

The 1955 annual meetings of the general synod will be in Edmonton and the executive council will meet in Toronto in November next year.

Mother Charged With Abduction Of Daughter

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. John Steele, radio script writer who was charged with abducting her 10-year-old daughter, Tuesday was remanded until September 22 on $1,000 bail.

A similar charge against her photographer husband was dropped.

The couple appeared in court at nearby Cooksville after their arrest Monday night. The police had searched for them for five weeks. The girl, Vernon, Mrs. Steele's daughter by a previous marriage, is missing.

She was awarded to her father, Delmar Dinsdale, in a divorce action last year. Police said Vernon was taken July 23 from her grandmother's home in Meadowdale, 20 miles north of Toronto.

Pains, distress of "those days" halted or strikingly relieved in 3 out of 4 cases in test by doctors!

Here's wonderful news for women and girls who—each month—suffer the tortures of "bad days" of functionally-caused menstrual cramps and pain—headaches, backaches, and those "no-good," "dragged-out" feelings.

It's news about a medicine well-known for relieving such suffering!

Here is the exciting news. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—gave complete or striking relief of such distress in an average of 3 out of 4 of the cases in doctors' tests!

Yes! Lydia Pinkham's is scientifically modern in action! Thousands benefited! This news will not surprise the thousands of women and girls who know the relief Lydia Pinkham can bring.

And it should encourage you to see if your experience doesn't match theirs... to see if you, too,

Now Lydia Pinkham's works. It has a "calming" and soothing effect on the uterus... quieting the contractions (see the chart) that so often cause menstrual pain, cramps, other distress.

don't avoid the nervousness, tension, weakness, irritability, and pain—so often associated with "those days"!

Try Lydia Pinkham's Compound... or new, improved Tablets (with added iron). Both are grand, too—for those "hot flashes" and other distresses common to "change of life"!

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Belgian air line, Sabena, Tuesday began what it called the first scheduled, intercity helicopter service in the world. Routes run from Brussels to Lille, France; Brussels to Antwerp and Rotterdam, The Netherlands, and Brussels to Liege and Maastricht.

The couple appeared in court at nearby Cooksville after their arrest Monday night. The police had searched for them for five weeks. The girl, Vernon, Mrs. Steele's daughter by a previous marriage, is missing.

Whisker Challenges Reeve of Esquimalt

Ex-MLA Will Seek Seat

A two-day fight for the Esquimalt reeveship was assured today with the announcement that Andrew Whisker, 47-year-old former MLA, will oppose Reeve A. C. Wurtele in the December elections.

The reeve, informed of Mr. Whisker's announcement, indicated he would accept the challenge.

"If the people want me to run again, I will," he said. "It's almost definite that I will seek re-election."

Mr. Whisker, making his first bid for civic office, will campaign on a "save money by efficient administration" platform.

His organizing committee is already set up and a campaign manager will be appointed in a few days.

EXTENSIVE CAMPAIGN
Mr. Whisker plans an extensive campaign, starting earlier than any previous municipal campaign.

"It will be a broad campaign and will give the electorate a chance to get an intelligent grasp of the issues," the candidate said.

He will advocate a much broader road, sewage and drainage program.

"The municipality's revenues are higher than they have ever been and I believe now is the time to finalize our works program," Mr. Whisker stated.

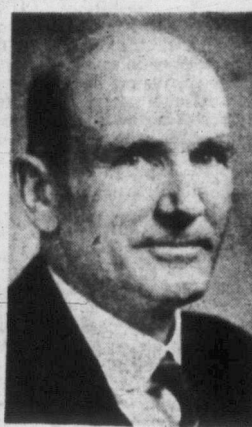

The candidate said he is "completely disinterested" in provincial politics.

TWICE DEFEATED
Mr. Whisker, who resides at 911 McNaughton Street, was elected to the Legislature as a Liberal in 1949 from Cowichan-Newcastle. He was defeated in 1952 and 1953.

He is a former provincial labor department administrative officer and safety director. He has been a logging manager, and is now a builder and private labor relations advisor.

Cracksmen Miss Haul As Safe Blast Fails

Door Unyielding to Nitroglycerine; $2,000 in Cash Eludes Burglars

Safe-crackers, classed by city detectives as "rank amateurs at the game," missed a $2,000 cash prize when they made an unsuccessful attempt to open a downtown safe during the night.

The attempt was made on a 200-pound safe in a shoe repair shop owned by 65-year-old Sing Toy at 1710 Government Street. "There was at least $2,000 in that safe—but I can assure you such an amount will not be there if anyone else should try the same game," said Sing Toy's son, John.

Detectives Angus Munro and Alex Briggs are investigating. The cracksmen used nitroglycerine, with a sack of rice and a sweater to muffle the explosion. The door of the safe did not budge. Rice was scattered in all directions.

The explosive was used after the dial had been knocked off and the pins in the door hinges removed.

Detectives said entry was gained to the premises by tearing off bars and forcing a rear window.

Burglary insurance is carried on the shop by Island Investments. Investigator of the attempted blowing for that firm was former Victoria chief of police John McLellan.

TCA Planes Set Passenger Record Out of Victoria

An all-time month's record of 24,464 passengers was carried between Vancouver and Victoria during August, Wallace B. Courtney, TCA's district sales and traffic manager, announced today.

This topped the previous high month, which was during the ship and rail strike, by 1,430 passengers. The traffic was divided almost equally between Vancouver-Victoria and Victoria-Vancouver flights.

Mr. Courtney also stated that because of heavy business, TCA will extend its summer schedule of 14 flights daily to the mainland through Oct. 31. After that date, only two daily flights will be dropped for the winter.

The summer service to Seattle of three flights daily will be maintained throughout the winter, he stated.

"We feel we should continue to offer connections at Seattle for southbound planes," he said, "and, in addition, there is heavy local traffic."

ASK The TIMES

Q.—When was Labor Day first observed in Nanaimo?

A.—In 1896. For the celebrations year after year, it was not always sunny weather. September 9, 1893, it rained all day, but there was a parade, and although "some refrained from walking in the muddy streets, as the Daily Times reported next day, 'some hundreds went to the grounds,' heard speeches and saw a lacrosse match.

Q.—Can you let me know how much money it is counting the average family of five living in Victoria, to meet expenses for the bare essentials, food, fuel, light and water? Mrs. W. R. B.

A.—The chief of the prices section, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, informs the Daily Times: "Up to the present, budgets which might be described as providing a minimum adequate standard of living for families of various sizes have not been prepared by governmental agencies. To my knowledge, the only studies of this nature which are available in Canada are those prepared by the Toronto Welfare Council and the Montreal Diet Dispensary."

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

The opening paragraph in a recent news story from London is an eye-catcher:

"The British medical profession is making a special study of women to find out why so many men suffer from heart attacks."

The British medical profession seems to be on the right track.

Why so many men suffer is, indeed, women.

However, a further study of the news item indicates there is no justification for frivolity.

It continues: "Dr. Evan Bedford, London heart specialist, says that the average woman's heart wears much better than a man's, so the medicals generally believe the female body contains some special substance which protects the heart and its arteries from the strain of modern life."

The female body most certainly does contain some special substance which protects its owner against stresses and strains.

This special substance is popularly believed to be located about seven inches above the shoulders, at a point midway between those dainty shell-like ears, and just back of the gently-arching eyebrows.

It is variously called grey matter, the cerebral hemisphere, or, more prosaically, the brain.

Through faithful use of this special substance, women through the ages have been able to foist on mankind the greatest hoax in history.

To wit, "women are the weaker sex."

No matter how often learned savants, physicians, and physicists dissect this statement, tear it to shreds, and expose it as the hoax it is, women put their special thinking suit on to work and devise a way to again convince men that women are weak.

This is especially true in the allegedly civilized countries of the world, where women's brains are so highly developed they can just sit around, pushing buttons on household appliances, while men rush to and fro, working like mad for the "little" woman.

While women have been cleverly accumulating the vote, trousers, cigarettes, and equality in the eyes of the law, they have carefully maintained the fiction of the weaker sex.

Naturally, they expect men to get up and give them a seat in the bus.

(Don't jump like that, ladies. I said EXPECT.)

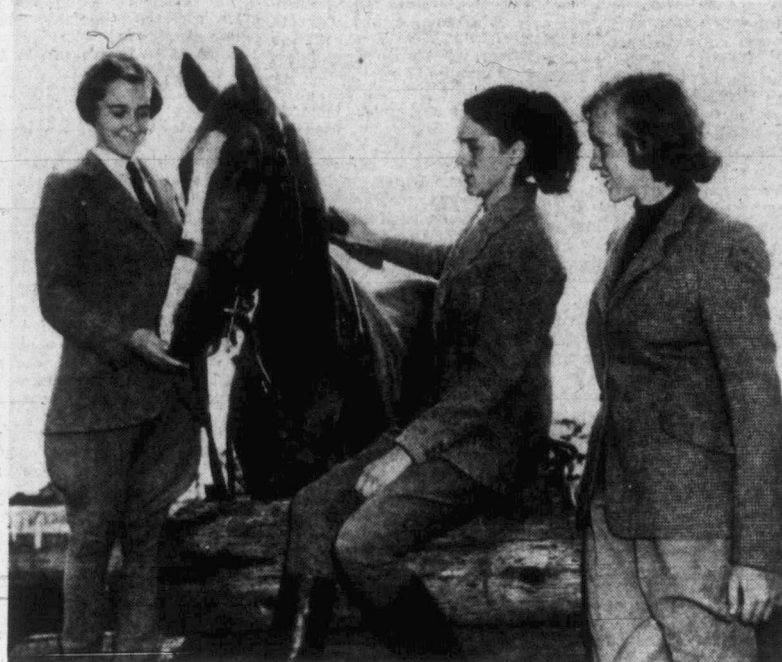

Even at cocktail parties, they lounge around in the most comfortable chairs while the poor male stands on one foot and then the other, and fights his way to the bar for reinforcements for the poor, weak woman.

No wonder the average woman's heart, in the words of the medicals, wears much better than a man's.

No wonder the average woman lives much longer than the average man.

Women know how to use their brains to persuade poor, foolish men to prove how strong they are.

SLOWER SHIPS MAY RUN ON CP WINTER SCHEDULE

Older Vessels Likely to Replace Fast Craft on Daytime Trips

Winter schedules of the B.C. Coast service, Canadian Pacific Railway, which go into effect Sept. 27, likely will see Princess Marguerite and Princess Patricia replaced by the slower, older Elizabeth and Joan on the day run to Vancouver.

The change has not been announced officially, but it has been reliably learned that the decision has been made by the company. Elizabeth and Joan will not arrive in Vancouver in time to make connections with the east-bound trains.

When a similar decision was announced last year, Chamber of Commerce officials protested to the company, and several meetings with CPR officials were held. The CPR maintained that the fast boats simply were not patronized sufficiently to pay their way, but agreed to maintain the service last year to see if sufficiently heavy traffic would develop.

It is understood traffic on the day steamers last winter was very light, so it is unlikely that any change in the CPR's present decision will be made.

Horticulturist Ends 44 Years of Service
Ben Hoy retired as provincial horticulturist Tuesday following 44 years' service with the Provincial Department of Agriculture. His successor is Robert Peter Murray, supervising horticulturist at Kelowna.

Mr. Hoy is well known in the Okanagan Valley where he served as horticulturist for many years before coming to Victoria three years ago. He is planning to return to the interior to live.

TREASURE IN SOOKE CACHE

A tin can filled with old papers and coins recently found in Sooke has yielded an odd treasure to Victor Jones, 900 Wharf Street.

It is an 1863 United States paper dime.

He doesn't know whether it has any value as a collector's item.

The tiny bill is only two by three inches in size. It describes itself as "Fractional Currency" and is "Receivable for all United States stamps," by "act of March 3, 1863."

Police Move to Clear Yates Street Hill For Labor Day Soap Box Derby Drivers

Deputy Chief Harry Mercer asked today that persons who park their cars on Yates Street between Vancouver and Camosun leave the street clear for the eighth annual soap box derby Labor Day.

Racing will be between 9 a.m. and 12, but the deputy chief asked that the course be cleared between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m. to give time for assembly of the racing cars and moving of the large starting ramp at Ormond Street.

First entries now are reaching Fred Wilkinson at Wilson Motors, and to date are evenly divided between A and B racers.

Racers in Class A must be between the ages of 11 and 15 years, and their cars must meet strict specifications.

Class B, however, is less rigid. Drivers can be any age up to 15, and cars must have wheel bearings other than precision bearings.

Jerry Hansen, Port Alberni, already has filed his entry to defend the Victoria Daily Times Trophy, awarded him last year for winning the Vancouver Island championship. Victoria district racers in Class A will compete for the Gibson's Bowldrome Cup, and will be eligible to race for the Times trophy.

Class B coasters will race for the Blue Line Cup, and the Langford Speedway Trophy will go to the boy with the best looking car.

Racing will follow the pattern set last year. A horn will announce the start, and while the race is in progress a red light will flash on the starting ramp.

Police on motorcycles will escort the bugs to the finish line at Cook Street.

Strong competition has been promised from Nanaimo, Chemainus and Port Alberni, where soap box racing has a firm hold on youngsters.

Sponsors of the annual event are Wilson Motors, Knights of Pythias and Victoria Daily Times.

Travelers Find Old Arts New Lure to Coast Beauty Spot

"This is the eighth of a series of articles by Times Reporter Humphry Davy who, with Queen's Scout companion West Humphrey, explored the probable route of the Island's West Coast road from Jordan River to Nanaimo. Here he tells something more about the romance of Clo-oose, one of the most beautiful areas encountered."

By HUMPHRY DAVY
"Am I seeing things," said West pointing to huge sandstone slabs near the sea. "It looks like some kids have been trying to draw on rock."

Closer examination revealed the figures are old Indian rock carvings. These are among the many attractions at Clo-oose, which we consider one of the most attractive recreational areas on the West Coast between Jordan River and Bamfield. Indian symbols are also to be seen in a cave used by the natives for certain ritual ceremonies.

During our short stay here we were surprised to discover that the Indians have not lost their art of making dugout canoes. They probably make some of the best canoes in B.C., and judging from their performance they are extremely seaworthy.

The Nitinat Indians, as they are called, belong to the Nootka group and rank among the world's best native seamen. Their fathers not so long ago hunted whales in canoes many miles out to sea. If you consider the size of a whale and a canoe and the fact that the braves used only spears as weapons, it was quite a feat.

SHIPWRECKS NO NOVELTY
We were able to see quite a bit of Clo-oose, thanks to Dan Hollday, who took time off to show us around. Dan has lived here for more than 30 years and knows every inch of the coast. He has seen more than 40 shipwrecks in his life.

His wife is the daughter of David Logan, one of the most colorful pioneers of the districts and who knew the West Coast, its rivers and creeks like the palms of his hands. He was a rebel against the industrial age and refused to live in cities with their factories and crowds.

In some respects he represented the independent spirit and ideals of the 18th century Briton. He maintained this spirit to the end of his days.

Stricken with illness, which was later diagnosed as cancer, he was taken to Victoria where his family expected he would be content to remain until his end. But Dave Logan would have none of that and told his relatives that he was not going to die and be buried in a city where people could walk over his grave.

CAME BACK TO DIE
"I won't have people walking over me," he told his sister. "I'm going back to where I belong."

So Dave Logan went back to his beloved Clo-oose and died within the sound of the sea which he loved so well.

Dave Logan may be gone, but his spirit still prevails at Clo-oose. The stories about him are legion and it will be a long time before he is forgotten.

An elderly Indian took us up the Nitinat Channel to the entrance of Nitinat Lake in a canoe. We got a glimpse of this long expanse of water. It was raining and by the time we got back to the trail we were soaked to the skin.

ISOCOMFORT FORGOTTEN
The trail from the Nitinat was excellent. It wound its way along cliffs overlooking the sea. The scenery was so fine that we forgot that we were wet through.

We crossed a woodsman's bridge over the Tsusiat River, which drops over a cliff onto the beach below. The falls are quite a sight and certainly will become a big attraction along the coast when a road is put through.

Finally we arrived at a cabin where we decided to spend the night. We had beans for supper. I hate beans ordinarily, but somehow they tasted mighty good that night.

Visiting Pakistan Official Pleased With Canada Wheat

His Excellency Mohammed Ikramullah, High Commissioner for Pakistan at Ottawa, arrived in Victoria with his wife today for a one-day visit during the course of a cross-country tour.

The total number of local cases in the recent outbreak stands at 44. There have been 55 cases on Vancouver Island and two deaths.

Your School-Age Daughter Should Wear a Burberry!

By PENNY SAVER

Guess you're finding that outfitting Mary Jane for school is quite a problem, eh mother? You know, a lot of moms figure that there's nothing like a navy blue burberry for little girls to wear to school, and I'm inclined to agree with them. They don't show the dirt, they're waterproof, they look smart and, above all, they're warm . . . if they are properly lined. Ones I saw in a local store are lined with heavy warm flannel in bright plaids that relieve the darkness of the navy blue. These are also complete with perky detachable hood. The tag of $10.99 is a pretty reasonable sum to ask for such a practical coat. Sizes range is 7 to 14.

Remember the crocheted gloves I was telling you about a day or so ago? You know, the ones that can be made to order! Well, gosh, I saw some darling little evening purses . . . hand-crocheted, too . . . that would look just perfect with a pair of the gloves. They were in a different store, so after you get the gloves you'd have to take them to the store that makes the evening bags and ask them to make one to match. (If you want the name of the store, just give me a call). Bags displayed in the window are circular and quite small. There are some in white and some in black and they have rings of silver or gold metallic thread. You may have one of these bags made in any color for $3.50.

High school and college gals will be buying up the new suede oxfords in a big way, I'm a-thinkin'. Yup!! They're really sharp! I'll tell you why, too. It's because they're so plain in style, the way most smart things are. There is a small, neatly inserted square of the suede on the instep, where the shoe laces, but aside from that the shoe is cut in one piece. In navy and chocolate brown, the shoes have white composition soles. Heels are very low . . . much like those on a saddle shoe . . . $7.95.

Here's a tip for gals who like to sew! That wonderful orlon and wool suiting, 54 inches wide, is now selling at $3.39 a yard! Colors are yellow, turquoise and pink. All have a tiny grey fleck in them to give that "tweedy" look!

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Wives, Invest Some Time In Looking Pretty for Him

It is only human that the woman in the home should sometimes become careless about her grooming because she has such a tolerant and devoted audience.

When a woman is in public life the situation is different. Her audience is demanding. Take the saleswomen who serve you in the better stores. They look as though they had just stepped out of handboxes. While it is true that the saleslady does not spend her time cleaning house and baby caring and cooking and laundering, yet the standards required of the housewife are just as important. Keeping romance alive in your marriage is certainly as important to you as the saleslady's record is to her. If it isn't, you had best give up the job of marriage.

Your man may love you no matter how you look but it seems unfair to impose on love and he deserves the kick of seeing you look as lovely and dainty as possible.

One saleslady when queried about the little points which add up to good grooming, listed them this way: hair must be neat and look as though it has been recently shampooed; stockings must be straight; shoes must look clean and well polished; heels must be kept straightened; fingernails must look immaculate and well cared for, the polish not overly dramatic; makeup must be applied over a clean skin with a careful restrained hand; clothes must be spotless and well pressed; posture must be good.

Here are a few hints to help the housewife achieve this standard as easily as possible. If you have a mad scramble in the morning getting your family off, then settle for a dash of

Want to Pickle But Don't Know How? Lend an Ear to Some Spicy Secrets

How do you feel about all those lovely fresh pickling vegetables the stores are displaying right now? Tempted? Or concerned about the surplus in your garden?

Maybe you are experiencing your first year as a housewife and shun the thought of pickling, as a magic art involving bubbling cauldrons and incantations! It's actually not so difficult but there are some tricky secrets in the craft. If you are interested here are a few tidbits from the pickling cook's notebook.

Ever wonder how this pickling business all began? Think you will be surprised to note that it wasn't until 1809 that the first pickling or canning was attempted with any success. A few years prior to this, during the Napoleonic scuffles, a preserved surplus of food was so desperately required that the government of France offered a reward to anyone developing a workable method of food preservation for the use of the navy and military services.

Along came a M. Nicholas Appert of Paris to win the award, and although he knew nothing of the facts of bacteriology, his methods were basically correct and canning and pickling were born.

Louis Pasteur, of course, discovered the underlying principles of food spoilage shortly afterwards, while people were still preserving in pottery, bottles with cork stoppers sealed with sealing wax, and cans sealed with solder.

It was not until later in 1858 that Robert Mason (whose name you have read on modern glass pickling jars) invented a glass jar with a zinc top and porcelain liner, sealed with rubber and quite similar to the bottles on your own pantry shelf.

It's a matter of pride, this home pickling! First the spicy aromas of autumn pickling issuing from all the doors and windows of your home, as neighbors pass by and turn their heads in response. It calls for good taste and discrimination to find that perfect blend of spice and acid flavors. A matter of pride, too, when you can offer an inexpensive, but personal birthday remembrance or Christmas parcel made up from your store of miniature jars of spiced peaches, crab apple, tempting spiced grapes or sour cherries.

Why should I make pickles when the store shelves are stocked with them? For the fun of it; for the pride of it; for the art of it. Home pickled goods make unique gifts—buy small, attractive jars that can be put to use afterwards; paint flower designs on them, with glaze paints, after the pickles are prepared and jarred. It will prove an interesting hobby—and these creations might even be an idea for pin-money—hummm?

"Why do I get soft pickles?" "Why do I get hollow pickles?" two young brides enquire. Softness and hollowness may be caused because the vinegar used was not strong enough, or the brine too weak.

Check the label of the vinegar bottle to be sure the vinegar is 4%—unless recipe instructs you differently. Pickles such as dills will also become soft if they are stored in open containers and pickles exposed above the brine.

A note about spices: Wondering how to avoid the darkening of pickles that ground spices are bound to bring about? Use cold kitchen logic and place spices in a bag, or tie in a piece of muslin and lower away into the pickle-pot. Merely remove spice bag before transferring pickles to jars.

In using coarse pickling salt (not iodized), it is handy to know that the average weight of a cup of salt is about 10 ounces or $\frac{3}{4}$ of a pound.

Don't ignore your pickling.

with tender ham. Peaches should be super-sound. Dip in boiling water and rub off fuzz. Cut free stones in halves and remove stones; leave cling-stones whole. Spike with cloves, cook fruit slowly in spiced syrup. Place in sterile jars, fill with syrup, cap.

To preserve vegetables in coarse pickling salt: Beans—1 lb. coarse salt to 4 lbs. beans. Peas—1 lb. coarse salt to 5 lbs. peas. Corn—1 lb. coarse salt to 4 lbs. corn.

Method: Blanch vegetables 3 minutes—at simmering temp. (180 degrees F). Chill in ice cold water. Cool vegetables to approximately lukewarm (60 degrees F) before salting. Drain thoroughly. A layer of salt first on bottom of crock, then layer of vegetables and so on until full, ending with layer of salt. A wooden cover then applied and weighted down with heavy object. In a few days brine will form. Make sure brine covers vegetables. They will keep in this manner indefinitely. When ready to use soak them overnight in fresh water. Cook in usual manner.

One-Day Visit to Victoria Ends Tour of Countrywomen

Representatives of several countries will travel in a group from Nanaimo to Victoria next week-end, when delegates to the recent convention of Associated Countrywomen of the World, reach the final lap of a western tour that begins in British Columbia, Thursday, when the party arrives at Salmon Arm.

Low-cost tours were arranged for delegates to enable them to see as much of Canada as possible following the session of the seventh triennial conference which was held in Toronto last month. Tours included Ottawa, Windsor, Northern Ontario, the Laurentians, Eastern townships and the Maritimes, in addition to the West.

Some delegates have participated in two of the tours. Many have remained in Ontario as guests of Women's Institute members in farm homes. This is the first time the conference has been held in Canada. Previous ACWW conferences have been held in Vienna, Stockholm, Washington, London, Amsterdam and Copenhagen.

Affiliated groups in Canada are Federated and provincial. WT's Farm Women's Unions, Jubilee Guilds of Newfoundland and Labrador, Cercles des Femmes of Quebec and Saskatchewan Homemakers' Clubs.

Upwards of 30 delegates will be included in the western tour. The visitors will be entertained at a B.C. breakfast at Hope having visited Vernon, Kelowna, Summerland and Penticton by train and motor. They will approach Vancouver by bus, traveling across the Pattullo Bridge, down the King George Highway and later crossing to Vancouver Island via Nanaimo. At the island hub, they will be taken for a scenic drive and will continue down the Malahat, stopping at Colwood for dinner, where they will be guests of Colwood and Luxton WT's and will spend Sunday night. Monday morning they will proceed by bus and be taken around Marine Drive and by a scenic route to Lake Hill Hall where WT's will serve a buffet lunch, after which they will take the afternoon boat for Vancouver, where the Australian and New Zealand women will leave for home, the others proceeding to Eastern Canada and dispersal.

Mrs. Doris Hanscombe, England; Mrs. Albert Matson, New Brunswick; Mrs. J. E. Burnett and Mrs. M. L. O'Connor, Australia; Mrs. Muriel Linton, Ireland. Other delegates and official visitors to the world conference taking this tour are Mrs. Bjarne Sawverud, Norway; Miss E. H. Pratt, honorary secretary of ACWW, England; Mrs. B. Brydon, White Rock, B.C.; Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. W. McClure, Ontario; Mrs. Hazel Saunders, New Brunswick, and Mrs. Dorothy Hunter, Australia.

General H. M. Smith, United States Army, retired, of La Jolla, California, and Mrs. Smith, are holidaying in Victoria, guests at Oak Bay Beach Hotel. A frequent visitor to Vancouver Island, the general called on Mayor Claude Harrison, at the City Hall, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Palmer have returned to their home, York Place, after spending the summer at their cottage at Qualicum Bay.

A regular once-a-week cleaning of window screens with brush or vacuum cleaner will keep dust from gathering in the meshes.

Unusual Career

Mrs. Stella Gibbs was widowed with two children when her husband died in 1918 during the bad flu epidemic. They were living in Alberta, where her daughter was born. Returning to her native California, she went to work in life insurance, finding wages generally inadequate to deal with the problem of child-raising. She sold insurance for 18 years for the same firm, finally became assistant director of training and education of new agents. Attending a recent convention at the Empress Hotel and planning retirement this year after 31 years, she is glad her last convention should be at "the nicest place we ever had for a convention!" This is her third convention at the Empress. Her daughter was a newspaperwoman, is now the author of three books, with a fourth coming out. Her son is a deputy sheriff. Mrs. Gibbs' home is in Woodland, Sacramento, Calif.

It's Unwise to Put New Fiances in Old Rings

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

An engagement ring is one of a young woman's most cherished possessions. Its actual worth is less important than its sentimental value. This young man is confronted with a problem. He writes:

(Q) "I was formerly engaged to a young woman and we had made plans to be married. We had a quarrel and my fiancée broke our engagement. She returned the ring and all the gifts I had given her. After several years of bitter disillusionment, I met a wonderful girl and we are now engaged to be married. My problem is what to do about an engagement ring for her. I feel that I cannot afford an expensive ring, as I have just recently finished payments on the ring I gave my former fiancée. My parents think I should have the initials of my former fiancée removed and those of my new fiancée engraved in the ring and give it to her. I wonder how she would feel about this and should I tell her? I am afraid that she might think I did not love her if I gave her this ring."

(A) Your problem is a ticklish one and must be handled with tact. Otherwise, your fiancée could misinterpret your motives in giving her your former fiancée's engagement ring.

Why not tell her the whole story? She will certainly ask you sooner or later if you gave your former fiancée a ring and will want to know what happened to it.

I do not agree with your parents that changing the initials is all that is necessary. No young woman would want a ring that has been worn by another person you had planned to make your wife.

You could, however, have the stone reset at relatively small cost. If the ring is a solitaire diamond, you could add a small stone to either side of it and make an entirely different ring.

Your fiancée, however, should make the decision. She may prefer a very small, inexpensive ring chosen just for her to a more elaborate ring which had been worn by another.

If you have a problem about family or friend, ask Dr. Hurlock to help you. Write in care of this newspaper.

TODAY'S RECIPE

SPICED PEARS

Four pears, peeled, halved and cored, 2 cups white table wine, 1 cup water, 1 cup sugar, 1 piece ginger root, 1 inch stick cinnamon, 6 whole cloves. Combine wine, water, sugar, and spices, and cook for 5 minutes. Add the pears and simmer very slowly until tender. (Serves eight.)

Save some of your summer hours for yourself by cooking for two or more meals at one time. This takes careful planning.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by The New Yorker
(Mother of 3)

Why play hide-and-seek with those half-used containers of baby food in the refrigerator? A muffin pan helps keep them all together in one spot. (Be sure that it's a large-size muffin pan and that you've carefully covered each container.)

Other tricks for that same kind of muffin pan: It's awfully handy for baking apples, peppers—keeps them so tidily in shape—and for poaching a lot of eggs at one time. On occasion, you might even use it for muffin-making!

Quick disappearance of baby foods is the usual order of the day—if you serve your baby with good-tasting Gerber's. Tempting choice of Strained Fruits, Vegetables, Meat-Soups, Desserts. All smooth texture as can be... with the inviting true color and true flavor babies prefer! And of course, since the experts at Gerber's spend all their time making baby foods and nothing else, each and every variety is carefully processed to help keep in those good natural food values.

Tiny individualists can show pretty big preferences—even as you and I! So if baby takes a stand against, say, carrots, it's better to forget them for a while and try squash instead.

Mother, send forth this special offer! Something mighty handy! Three of these attractive Refrigerator Can Covers to snap on the opened can of Gerber's before popping it in the 'frig... send only 10 cents plus 3 labels from Gerber's Strained Foods or Junior Foods or one box top from a package of Gerber's Cereals to Mrs. Dan Gerber, Dept. N-33, Gerber-Ogilvie Baby Foods, Ltd. Niagara Falls, Canada.

Attractive to see and delicious to eat is a colorful plate of garden-fresh cooked vegetables. Arrange golden ears of corn, broiled tomatoes, green string beans around a large head of cauliflower. To add heartiness, top the cauliflower with a rich cheese-ripe olive sauce. Make a cream sauce, add lots of grated cheese and big wedges of meaty ripe olives.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar class). BB (Worthwhile). A (Don't miss). B (For rainy days). C (To put in time).

(A) "TAKE ME TO TOWN" (Odeon)—It isn't often that a movie reviewer, who sees an average of four to six new shows a week, is caught unaware. For he gets to know the work of the director, the stars and supporting cast. More important, he has the opportunity of reading reviews from several sources before a movie hits town. This combination naturally prepares him for what is to come—poor, fair, good or exceptional.

Even armed with this knowledge, however, sometimes he is pleasantly surprised. Every now and then a show that comes to town preceded by mediocre reviews proves — for the reviewer at least — to be a smash hit.

One of these is "Take Me to Town."

In a spanking, all-around performance Miss Ann Sheridan combines with rugged Sterling Hayden in a combination western action, comedy, musical and drama. The Sheridan-Hayden team is backed up by all the important bit players, such as three wonderful small boys—Lee Aaker, Harvey Grant and Dusty Henley—as well as Philip Reed, Lee Patrick and Larry Gates.

But like all small masterpieces of this kind, where the new and the old, the has-beens and never-wases mix together, it is the director who must prove his mettle. If this is so then director Douglas Sirk should be awarded with some

Son of Former Movie Star Dies In Logging Mishap

REDDING, Calif. (AP).—Richard Dix, 18, son of the late screen actor of the same name, was killed in a logging accident Monday.

Young Dix was crushed to death by logs which slipped from a truck. He was working in a logging camp at Pondosa, about 100 miles northeast of Redding.

Canada to Ship Two Cobalt Bombs Abroad

OTTAWA (CP).—Two 5,000-pound steel-sheathed lead containers of radioactive cobalt, the first to leave this continent, will be shipped within a few days, officials of Atomic Energy of Canada, Ltd., announced Tuesday.

The containers, holding cobalt "bombs" used in cancer therapy, are destined for Borgo, Italy, and a London, England, hospital.

Big Doses of Vitamin C Fail To Stop Hay Fever, Experts Say

Hay fever and the allergies are always subjects which interest an enormous number of people.

Q—I have heard that large doses of vitamin C pills are of great benefit in hay fever. What is your opinion on this matter?—I.K.

A—The weight of medical opinion is that massive doses of vitamin C are of little or no value either in preventing hay fever attacks or in lessening their severity when they do come.

Q—What is the reason for severe bald spots appearing on a woman's scalp?—Reader.

A—Assuming that these spots appear rather suddenly without any obvious cause, they are known as alopecia areata. They occur on the scalp of men as well as of women. The cause is not known, but in a high proportion of cases the hair grows back as before with or without treatment after a period of weeks or months. Occasionally the hair loss is permanent and occasionally it includes the entire scalp, and even the eyebrows.

Q—Will you please say something about a disease of the bone called Paget's disease?—Mrs. C.

A—This is also known as osteitis deformans. It is a chronic disease of the bone appearing in grown-ups and resulting in some bowing of the bones and deformities of some of the flat bones. It is considered to be an inflammatory condition resulting from some local disturbance in the bones, the exact nature of which is still unknown. Treatment is not always satisfactory, but often includes giving extra amounts of vitamins, calcium and phosphorus.

Q—Our five-year-old daughter has a bad ear which I believe will need plastic surgery. Should it be taken care of now before she starts school, or must she wait until she is fully grown?—Reader.

A—A plastic surgeon should be consulted if the little girl really does need plastic surgery as it probably would be much easier to take care of it now than later on.

Q—I have had hemorrhoids removed and a fissure operated on several years ago. Now there is continual daily drainage and itching. Is there any prescription that would help?—A.L.

A—It sounds as though there was still trouble from the fissure and if this is the case I fear another and perhaps more extensive operation will be needed since it is doubtful that any medicine or prescription would clear up the condition. Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once a week, in this "Q and A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

Influx of Pensioners Here Still Exceeds Departures

A goodly number of elderly citizens from all parts of Canada continue to seek out British Columbia as the place to spend their declining years.

Figures kept on the number of persons receiving old age security pensions show that during the month of August 143 pensioners came to B.C., while 98 left the province.

Number of families with children moving in and out of the province was about equally divided between those coming and those going. Figures on these movements are available through a check kept on recipients of family allowances.

For August, the figures show 510 families in receipt of allowances entered B.C. and 502 left. More British Columbians than ever before now are sharing in federal welfare grants, according to W. R. Bone, regional director for both family allowances and old age security.

More than 430,000 B.C. people are now in receipt of monthly grants, totaling $4,435,835.

Family allowance cheques are sent to 176,865 families, having a total of 357,492 children. These cheques, in August, came to a total value of $2,155,945.

Old age security pensions went to 81,931 persons in the province during the last month, representing a sum of $3,299,890.

Trainer Suspended But Blameless

VANCOUVER (CP)—An automatic 60-day suspension was imposed on trainer Benney Fisher at Exhibition Park race track Tuesday when tests showed presence of a drug in a horse's system.

The drug entered the bloodstream of Water Pere, seven-year-old bay gelding, through a cut on the leg and showed up in tests, presiding steward Earle Lewis said. He stressed that the solution, containing procaine, is used to deaden pain when applied externally and that in this instance it was not a case of "doping or stimulating" the thoroughbred.

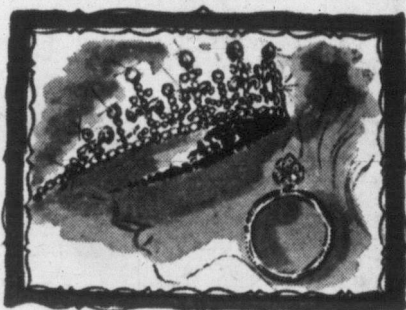

However, under laws set down by New York Jockey Club, a 60-day suspension and confiscation of the purse is automatic when traces of drug show up in tests. Water Pere won the eighth race Aug. 25.

Crew of Downed Bomber Survive Week in Arctic Wilderness

ing Officers G. W. Duguid, W. G. Morton, W. V. Gorbac, A. R. Stammers, Cpl. D. H. Wentzell and FO Joe Murray. Missing from the picture is FO A. R. Gossel, who was slightly injured in flash fire which broke out when plane belly-landed on rough terrain. (SNS photo.)

Planes covered more than 65,000 square miles before the bomber, downed in a shallow lake by mechanical troubles and an electrical storm, was spotted. The partly-submerged plane can be seen in the background, with the fliers camped by their tent in the foreground.

Catholics Renew Fight On School Question

The B.C. Catholic Education Association has launched a new fight on "the injustice of double taxation" on parochial schools. The group's plea for equal treatment with public schools will be carried to the provincial government before the September 15 session of the Legislature.

Meanwhile, pamphlets outlining the double-taxation issue, a burning subject for years, are being distributed throughout the province.

"We feel it is up to the government to do something about the injustice of double taxation that has Catholic schools in financial difficulty," an association spokesman said.

If Catholic schools were allowed to enter the public school system, he explained, "we would contribute 50 per cent of the original cost and enter into a contract with the government."

"Then we could enter into a partnership, and teach the full public school curriculum allowing non-Catholic students to go home when we take up the teaching of our religious beliefs," the spokesman said.

A week-long fund-raising drive "The Archbishop's Development Fund"—starts September 27 and has an objective of $130,000.

The drive will seek a "day's pay" as a donation and funds will be used for school development in 54 B.C. parochial schools.

Favor Geneva, Honolulu For Peace Conference

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States and its Korean war allies today were reported ready to reject a possible Communist move to hold the forthcoming Korean peace conference in New York City.

Representatives of the 17 allied nations who fought in Korea argued the conference be convened in Geneva, Switzerland, or Honolulu on Oct. 15.

Arrangements were under way at the state department to transmit the proposal to the Communist through Swedish diplomatic channels.

RCAF Gives Up Hunt for N.M. Oilman

VANCOUVER (CP)—RCAF planes were withdrawn today from the 19-day search for Ellis Hall, New Mexico oil company executive, and his four passengers—three of them members of his family.

The RCAF said it understood U.S. Air Force planes based at Annette Island, Alaska, will continue the search only until Friday, Hall's twin-engine plane vanished on a scheduled 800-mile flight from Annette to Bellingham, Wash.

Vancouver Woman Gives Birth to 4 Boys; All Die

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Arthur Schroeder, 24, gave birth to quadruplets late Tuesday night, but the four—all boys—died within hours.

It was the first such birth in Vancouver in 20 years.

Mrs. Schroeder, wife of a food buyer, was rushed to St. Paul's Hospital in a 12-minute cab ride from their Lulu Island home 10 miles from Vancouver.

The quads, premature babies, were born within a six-minute period shortly before midnight. The first two died at 1:05 a.m., the third at 5:10 a.m. and the last at 6:55 a.m.

At least nine fires in this district and two in the Pembroke district still raged out of control. More than 150 men were concentrated on one blaze in Gladman Township and other gangs were scattered from Quebec to Manitoba.

Light rains put out a few blazes Tuesday and last night but accompanying lightning and gusts of hot air that fanned flames away from the fire lines started just as many new ones.

"We need some real good rains but there aren't any in sight on our weather map," said A. C. Dillon, forest protection supervisor.

Wind Adds New Threats To Ont. Fires

Situation Described To Be 'Nip and Tuck'

NORTH BAY, Ont. (BUP)—Gusts of 30-mile-an-hour winds posed a new threat today to 2,400 weary rangers battling more than 101 fires under blast furnace conditions in Ontario forest lands.

Forest officials said it was a "nip and tuck" fight. Scattered showers were predicted for this afternoon, but they were not expected to be much help.

The lands and forests department said a total of 2,000,000 feet of hose, thousands of pumps, about 1,000 canoes, 50 aircraft and hundreds of forestry towers all would be in use today.

One helicopter was put out of the fight for a while when a ranger's axe handle smashed its rotor.

Light rains put out a few blazes Tuesday and last night but accompanying lightning and gusts of hot air that fanned flames away from the fire lines started just as many new ones.

"We need some real good rains but there aren't any in sight on our weather map," said A. C. Dillon, forest protection supervisor.

Washington Air Crash Kills 21

FALL FROM GANGWAY KILLS ELAINE SAILOR

VANCOUVER (CP)—A fall from the gangway of the coastal steamer Princess Elaine today took the life of quartermaster Alberto Nazzaro, about 24, a native of Naples, Italy.

Canadian Pacific Steamships officials said Nazzaro tumbled into the water between the ship and the dock as the Princess Elaine was being shifted with the tide. His body was recovered.

Nazzaro's fall was witnessed by the Elaine's bosun, Peter O'Connor and a dock tractor driver, E. Rawle. O'Connor grappled for the quartermaster with a boat hook while Rawle ran to notify police.

Company officials said the Elaine was being moved from the unloading dock to the berth ahead to allow the Princess of Nanaimo to pull in behind.

Nazzaro was a resident of Vancouver.

FOUR DIE IN TORONTO

Heat Wilts CNE Building

TORONTO (BUP)—Authorities kept the Graphic Arts building roped off today at the Canadian National Exhibition after 93-degree heat melted materials on the roof and caused it to sag as much as 15 feet.

Scores of spectators in the exhibition's oldest building fled in terror Tuesday when it appeared that the entire ceiling was caving in.

Exhibition manager Hiram McCallum admitted he was "most relieved" that no one was hurt.

Spectators and welfare organizations' exhibits escaped damage and the building was roped off until CNE officials could decide whether it should be demolished and rebuilt.

Meanwhile the nation's worst heat wave of the year burned through its 10th day today and the weatherman said little relief was in sight.

The unceasing 90 degrees already had blistered farm crops and forced widespread industrial layoffs.

The coroner's office in Toronto reported four sudden deaths caused partly by excessive heat. One Bell Telephone employee, Norman Williams, 31, collapsed and died in a downtown office building. Five persons collapsed in the street in Toronto.

British Columbia was the nation's leebo today with temperatures in the low 70's. The southern Prairies were experiencing 80-degree weather, while the mercury was touching the mid-80's in the Maritimes.

Health authorities said the heat wave had already killed at least 100 persons in the eastern United States, and doctors warned residents to "take it easy" during the hot spell.

OTTAWA (CP)—No more mounted Mounties on Parliament Hill until the current heat wave ends, the RCMP said Tuesday. The force said it is bad enough for scarlet-coated constables to do duty on the hill on foot in 95-degree heat.

But it is twice as bad for the mounted man—heat from the sun above, heat from the horse below. As for the horse, he's even worse off than the constable.

Vancouver TLC Suspends UFAWU

VANCOUVER (CP)—Following the lead of its parent body the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council, TLC, has suspended the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union.

The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada announced at Ottawa Aug. 21 that it had suspended the 6,000-member union "until it gives proof of having taken steps to rid itself of Communist leadership and leanings."

Acting president George Johnston, at a Vancouver Trades and Labor Council meeting yesterday, gave the suspended union's 11 delegates the choice of leaving the hall or moving up to the visitors' seats.

At the beginning of the exchange, 18 Canadians were listed by the Canadian Army as prisoners and 27 as missing, believed to be prisoners.

Twelve of the men listed as prisoners and 12 listed as missing have been freed by the Reds. According to the army this leaves six prisoners and 15 missing unaccounted for.

The soldier, identified only as "Allick," was freed three weeks ago and had been sent as a medical case to the hospital.

Dulles Gives Blunt Warning To Red China

New Aggression Would See War Widespread

ST. LOUIS (BUP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warned Red China today that it will risk retaliation against its homeland if it commits a "second aggression" against Indo-China or Korea.

Noting that Red China is training, equipping and supplying Communist forces in Indo-China, he said there is a "risk that, as in Korea, Red China might send its own army into Indo-China."

"The Chinese Communist regime should realize that such a second aggression could not occur without grave consequences which might not be confined to Indo-China," he said.

"I say this soberly in the interest of peace and in the hope of preventing another aggressor miscalculation."

In a speech prepared for the American Legion convention, Dulles told the Chinese Communist regime bluntly that if the Korean war were renewed, it likely would spread to China itself.
